Eversfield Asked Why He Ignored Police

(See also Page 16)

VANCOUVER (CP)—The key Crown witness in the Sommers bribery conspiracy trial said today he can not now assess his action in not going to the police when, in 1953, he was convinced of unlawful undertakings at his former firm, Pacific Coast Services Limited.

Under cross-examination by defence counsel Alfred Bull, Charles Eversfield admitted he had "a firm conviction" in 1953 about unlawful undertakings.

Asked why he did not take the matter up with Pacific president H. W. Gray, and leave the firm, Eversfield said it was his intention to move shortly to the United States, and he thought it better to let it go until he made that move.

Bull asked: "It suited your convenience, didn't it?"

'TOOTHPICK A DAY' PLEADS ISLAND MP

OTTAWA (CP)—A Progressive Conservative backbencher from British Columbia said today in the Commons he feels sure the government "is not sitting on its hands in connection with resuming trade with Communist China."

Harry McQuillan (PC—Cormor Alberni) said he wasn't advocating diplomatic recognition of Red China, but if we could get only one toothpick a day into the mouths of the 600,000 Chinese in the forest industry in B.C. would be wealthy."

The forest industry of B.C. does not ask the government to sell its products. But it does ask the government not to put obstacles in its way."

CHARGES SET RECORD

Death Sentence For Mass Killer

GLASGOW (AP)—Woodcutter Peter Manuel was convicted today of seven murders. The Glasgow High Court judge immediately sentenced him to be hanged.

The 32-year-old Manuel stood silent in the dock as the judge, Lord Cameron, pronounced sentence. Manuel then was swiftly hustled down the steps and out of the courtroom.

The jury had deliberated two hours and 21 minutes.

Manuel, accused of the "capital" murders (three women, two girls, a man and a boy) which called for the death penalty. He also was found guilty of murder in the death of Isabella Cooke, 17, but the jury ruled that it should not carry the death penalty.

He faced the greatest number of murder charges ever brought against a defendant in a modern British trial.

'Water' Proves Undoing Of Bootlegger Turned Thief

NEW YORK (AP)—One on the house wasn't enough for Wilfred Dart.

After rifling a dentist's office, Dart lingered for hours over a bottle of Scotch. Then his final undoing was, of all things, water.

Dart, 53, is a former Boston bootlegger who served 20 years in prison for killing a man during a hijacking gun duel.

Police said Dart, with the aid of an automobile spring, forced his way into the office of Dr. Lawrence Clayton on Park Avenue. All he could find was about $30 worth of stamps—and the Scotch.

It was in the wee small hours. There was no hurry. One nap led to another. Came the dawn and Dart started, slowly, to leave through the window he had jimmied.

Outside, hosing down the sidewalk, was Thomas Lenahan.

"It is my intention to stay at the bargaining table until the deadline at midnight," Reuther said.

"We have always worked against a deadline and I am hopeful we can work out a fair and equitable settlement again.

Lenahan turned the hose on Dart, holding him at bay until police arrived. Dart was booked Wednesday on charges of burglary.

Algerian Army Set To Move

Coup d'état Rumor To Back de Gaulle

ALGIERS (AP)—A member of Algeria's ruling junta said today the army stands ready to move if necessary to help bring Gen. Charles de Gaulle back to power at Paris.

"The army cannot remain static at this time," said Leon Delbecque, vice-president of the All-Algerian Committee of Public Safety which has ruled Algeria since May 13. "It cannot keep on looking from the balcony and from the forum."

This was a reference to the square in front of the government building where Algerian crowds have been massing every night to hear insurgent leaders.

Reuters News Agency in a Paris dispatch reported rumors are circulating in the capital of a planned coup d'état due tonight if de Gaulle is not returned to power.

Delbecque said about 120 underground committees of public safety have been set up throughout metropolitan France to take power.

'WEVE HAD ENOUGH'

"We have had enough of the Fourth Republic," Delbecque told a group of foreign reporters today, especially invited to listen to his remarks.

He said the Algerian movement "was not a plot but a national resurrection movement".

"We are saving not only the Republic but even democracy," he declared.

He said the Algerian committee is preparing a report on its activities for de Gaulle, but added that the junta has not been in direct contact with the general.

Spaak Given Warm Welcome

OTTAWA (CP)—Paul-Henri Spaak, NATO secretary-general, was welcomed to the Commons today by spokesmen for all parties.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker called attention to the presence of Mr. Spaak, sitting in the diplomatic gallery. Mr. Spaak received a lengthy round of desk-thumping applause.

Mr. Spaak gave the cabinet a one-hour report on NATO affairs. Earlier, the cabinet held a half-hour formal session before Mr. Spaak's arrival.

Eversfield said that to his mind if he took a $1,000 bill, that would be stealing. "If I reached in the waste basket and took some inconsequential papers" that would not be stealing.

Mr. Bull questioned him closely on his use of the word "stealing."

Mr. Bull suggested that Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy, to whom Eversfield later disclosed his documents—"knew they were of great value and told you so."

Eversfield: "He did not."

The defence lawyer then suggested that wealthy B.C. timberman and former MLA Gordon Gibson could afford to pay for the originals he kept were of no value to Pacific.

Martin's Blast Draws Liberal Desk-Thumping

(From Times News Services)

OTTAWA—Paul Martin suggested Wednesday that the government has not reconvened the federal-provincial conference on tax sharing because it is embarrassed by the financial demands of the provinces, especially Ontario and Quebec.

"Why has not the conference been called?" the former Liberal health minister demanded in the throne speech debate.

The debate neared its end as the Progressive Conservatives overwhelmingly defeated a Liberal non-confidence motion by a vote of 181 to 52. The motion said the government was trying to divert trade instead of expanding it.

Mr. Martin, a veteran of 23 years, gave the Liberals one of their few opportunities this session for desk-thumping applause as he lit into the government on the question of federal-provincial relations.

He said Prime Minister Diefenbaker a year ago had promised to call a tax-sharing conference last September.

Duplessis Wants More Money

The conference had been held in November. It had lasted two days and had come to no decision on the sharing of tax revenues.

Mr. Diefenbaker had indicated it would resume in January. "It had not," Finance Minister Fleming had announced interim payments to the provinces on a unilateral basis.

Premier Frost of Ontario recently had said the conference would reconvene before the first of July but Mr. Diefenbaker later had said no decision had been reached on a date.

Mr. Martin said the Frost government is not satisfied with an interim increase of $22,000,000 in its tax share. On the basis of Ontario's proposed tax-sharing system, Ottawa would have to allow the prov-

Nowlan's Statement Challenged

Revenue Minister Nowlan had said sales of one automobile manufacturer were up in April compared to a year earlier.

Mr. Martin said he had checked on this and found that sales were down 14.5 per cent in April. Mr. Nowlan, in a "cavalier manner," had said unemployment was not serious. He was oblivious to the urgency of the matter.

Mr. Martin said the government has given no hint of any proposals to be made to the Commonwealth economic conference at Montreal in September.

MPs had to find out about the conference by reading the statement of a British cabinet minister—and the prime minister says this government is the guardian of the liberties of the people."

J. R. Garland (L-Nipissing) said Canada's economy sagged within three months of the start of the Progressive Conservative administration last June.

The government's talk about diverting imports from the United States had caused problems. There was little wonder that the U.S. viewed Canada's present government with concern.

Electricity Lifts Songhee Fire Hazard

Electric power has been brought into homes on the Maple Bank and Songhees Indians reserves.

The move was encouraged by Chief Arthur Albany, concerned about the safety factor in old-fashioned methods of cooking, heating and lighting.

Last year a blaze took the lives of two children, and there have been numerous other fires. Band members have been helped in financing installations where necessary from the band fund.

"The danger will be cut down with electricity," said the chief. "Now there are only two or three houses to go."

Power lines now run the length of Cooper Road and down from Admirals Road to Esquimalt Harbor.

Traffic Deaths Declining In U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—The traffic death toll in the United States, for the sixth straight month, dropped in April and highway deaths in the first four months this year were the lowest for the comparable period since 1950. The National Safety Council Wednesday said the four-month traffic toll this year of 10,330 was 8 per cent below the toll of 11,200 in the first four months of 1957. April highway deaths totalled 2,600, a decrease of 12 per cent from the 2,950 killed in April last year.

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—NORAD is neither a part nor an extension of NATO, Paul Henri Spaak, the NATO secretary-general, told a press conference here Wednesday, adding fuel to political flames the Liberal opposition has been fanning in the House of Commons.

Unwittingly contradicting Prime Minister Diefenbaker and other members of the Canadian cabinet, the NATO secretary-general said NORAD was not only not a part of NATO but it definitely was not regarded as an extension of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The reporters put the questions to Mr. Spaak in the light of statements made in the Commons by Prime Minister Diefenbaker and External Affairs Minister Sidney Smith.

The Canadian government has maintained since Canada and the United States agreed to pool their continental air defence forces last August that NORAD was a regional extension of NATO.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker told the Commons on May 20 that his secretary of state for external affairs had pointed out

NORAD "is part of the NATO plan for defence."

Mr. Spaak is in Canada on an official visit for consultation with Canadian government heads. He said in reply to questions that NORAD has no formal relationships with NATO although the command could serve as a model for the European NATO members.

Gen. Earle Partridge, the supreme commander of NORAD was also in Ottawa Wednesday on a visit from his headquarters at Colorado Springs for consultations with Canadian military officials.

Opposition members in the Commons under the leadership of Lester Pearson, former external affairs minister in the previous Liberal administration, have hammered at the position and said he would have no objection to the NORAD matter being discussed and approved or disapproved in the form of a resolution.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker in the Commons on May 20 had stated that he did not think the NORAD agreement should be discussed in the form of a resolution for approval or disapproval in the House because it is "part of the NATO concept."

He contended that because parliament had already debated and approved NORAD there was no need to debate and approve or disapprove of the NORAD agreements.

Later Mr. Diefenbaker gave

Long-Range Planning To Open Northland

EDMONTON (CP)—Stepped-up exploration to define the great mineral potential of the Northwest Territories will be the first stage of any large scale development of the area, the Canadian Association of Geographers was told today.

Large, well-established firms with the capital available for long-term returns already are engaged in extensive exploratory work in the Arctic and sub-Arctic, said C. L. Merrill, N.W.T. district administrator. Notably, oil companies are searching out the Mackenzie region.

GREAT POTENTIAL

Known but yet undeveloped deposits indicate the potential, Mr. Merrill added.

At Pine Point, on the southwestern shore of Great Slave Lake, there is a huge lead-zinc deposit where an estimated 60,000,000 tons of ore is available, much of it ready for open-cut mining. With the announcement that a railway will be built to the region from one of the Alberta railheads, "it appears that this deposit soon will be mined."

In addition, there are known deposits of lithium and lead-zinc ores in the Yellowknife area on the northern side of the lake. Farther north, near the Coppermine River, nickel and copper deposits have been under investigation for several years on a 600-square-mile concession for minerals.

Present N.W.T. mineral production is running about $25,000,000 a year, most of it being

The 13th century wars of Genghis Khan are estimated to have cost 6,000,000 lives.

The Man on Horseback

AS IT HAS DONE SO OFTEN before, France seeks a cure for democracy's collective weakness in the strength of an individual man. The question immediately arising from the attempt to place General de Gaulle in power (an attempt which is still in doubt this afternoon) is whether democracy can survive his presence or whether he must extinguish it, for a time at least, in a welter of civil violence. The next few days may answer that question. But it is not the only question of deep concern to the whole Western world.

Assuming that de Gaulle can establish his control of France, without a civil war provoked by his enemies, what part will his government play in the Western alliance?

Certainly he is the enemy of Communism, a religious mystic of the extreme Right, a firm though difficult and mercurial friend of the West. Nevertheless, the sort of policy he has long advocated may gravely divide and damage the alliance.

De Gaulle proposes to reform the soul of France and recapture its past glory—the mission that this extraordinary man set for himself in the national collapse of 1940. It is a noble mission but its execution could cut straight across the policies of France's friends.

The political upheaval in Paris is the direct result of a bungled attempt to suppress a nationalist upheaval in Algeria where France's energy and treasure have been squandered on a futile war. The army, which destroyed the former government and is trying to bring de Gaulle to power, expects him not only to continue but to expand the war. Like so many French strong men of the past, he may well be the prisoner of the army.

If the war is to be continued and expanded not only will the French nation assume larger economic burdens but it will foment the enmity of the last World War.

Courage on the Court

THE WORLD OF SPORT, WHICH stirs all human emotions at different times, occasionally brings to public notice examples of high courage that shine beyond the limits of the stadium, track, ring or enclosure.

Such was the case with Babe Didrikson Zaharias, the Olympic champion who turned to golf, became the best woman in the game, was stricken by cancer, made a gallant but temporary recovery and finally went down fighting.

Courage of a similar nature has recently been shown on Vancouver tennis courts. There Art Larsen, former United States national champion, has continued his efforts at a comeback.

Larsen, one of the best in the world a short time ago, became the victim of a crippling accident. His of the African peoples and their sympathizers in the Middle East, in Asia and probably throughout the world of color. Yet it is the policy of France's friends, of Britain and the United States especially, to conciliate and assist these neutralist peoples lest they be driven into the arms of Russia.

Until now the great Western powers have avoided any rupture with France by regarding the Algerian war as a purely internal problem with which they were not officially concerned. This diplomatic fiction will be hard to maintain if the war spreads; for in that case the West will find its vital interests split between France and the Afro-Asian bloc.

Hence the prospect of a de Gaulle Government involves much more than internal revolution. Produced by foreign policy, such a government will continue to affect that policy in a fashion quite incalculable today. Even the strong man himself is not strong enough to foresee those effects. The political forces flowing at home and the military forces flowing in Africa are stronger than any man.

The Western world's best hope is, first, that de Gaulle can give France a stable government without a period of violence and arrest the nation's long political decay; and second that he can settle the African war quickly, without spreading it and quarreling with his allies.

Both those projects will require genius of the highest magnitude in the French leader and, in the French people, a moderation and cohesion lacking for the last three decades.

Are we seeing today a revival in the historic heart of western Europe or merely another false start, a further interlude of chaos which benefits no one but the West's enemies? It is far too early to say but obviously we face in the Western world the most shaking events since the last World War.

Art Criticism at UBC

VISITORS TO THE UNIVERSITY of British Columbia campus last Thursday had an opportunity to study art and criticism.

Art was represented in an abstract form. A tower rising square and high on pipe girders carried, at intervals, differently colored sheets of plywood. Into the sheets were cut holes of different shapes.

The creation had been erected for "home coming" some time ago physical faculties remain impaired. He is fighting them as he meets contestants in tournaments he would have skipped during his time of top performance.

Under the circumstances, it is regrettable to note the emphasis placed by a Vancouver sports writer on his physical deficiencies. Here is a former star athlete trying heroically to rehabilitate himself. The accent, surely, should be on the valiant determination he is showing, not on the dragging foot, the impaired right arm and the diminished vision. Good sportsmanship applies to the typewriter every bit as much as it does to the playing field.

If there is heartbreak in the picture Art Larsen presents, there is a radiance of courage shown by a man fighting his way back. Such is one of the glories of sport.

INNOCENT ABROAD

'Dump Out the Duffel Bag and Look Over a Few Random Impressions of the Trip'

WHEN you're flying high in a Super Connie, as we were on TCA's Hudson Bay route to and from London last week, your pilot brings you down to earth gradually.

The descent is made in a long slope to avoid the physical discomforts a passenger would feel if he plunged rapidly from a height three-and-a-half to four miles up.

I've been trying to come down on a steady slide from the exalted position I enjoyed, living like a king for five days of the junket.

I'm on the runway now, moving toward my customary rut. Yesterday I complained at home that I hadn't had filet mignon with appropriate wine for luncheon since the preceding Thursday.

The boss of our house has a dignified way of meeting such complaints. "Would you mind finishing up those wieneries left in the fridge?" she asked, adding "How do you want your warmed-over potatoes fried?"

Ah well, I've had my dream. There's not much left to do but dump out the duffel bag and look over a few remaining, random impressions.

* * *

My notebook, carrying a diary I kept for one day and then filed away, contains a few jottings on Gander, Newfoundland.

We dropped down to the tarmac on a dark, chill night and wandered through rabbit Warrens in the airport building to the public waiting room.

Across one of its walls is a huge map showing airline routes coming from all parts of the world and focusing on Gander. More than a dozen of the major lines use the port and passengers of a dozen nationalities deplane there.

Around the map gathered most of the Victoria men on the trip—Hugh Stephen, John Featherstone, Eric Marshall and Bill Galt—and we studied the important points set out across Canada. In British Columbia, Vancouver enjoyed big type. In smaller letters were "Sandpit," Queen Charlotte Islands, Prince George, Fort Nelson, "William" Lake—but no Victoria. "Listen," commanded Eric Marshall,

LOOSE ENDS

Time of Troubles

THE present troubles in Canada—strikes, cost-of-living, unemployment and the rest—surprise us only because we have never yet reconciled ourselves to the most obvious fact of the age, namely that it is an age of trouble, just such an age as many previous civilizations have encountered in regular rhythm. The only difference in our time is that our troubles are larger, and their unfoldment more rapid, than in any earlier time. But to expect a sudden end to this phase, to expect anything like stability, or even sanity, in our lifetime is childish. It is like a child crying for candy.

YET the illusion that somehow—by the election of new governments, the arrival of new leaders or some other miracle—we can suddenly emerge from the time of troubles still persists.

That, I suppose, is why every new item of trouble seems unnecessary, abnormal, unfair, though every one of them, down to the local strike, arises from the same basic cause.

Why should we be surprised because some local aspect of the economy is distorted when the whole national economy is grossly distorted? Why should we be surprised because the national economy is distorted when the world is writing in general revolution? Why, in short, should this continent and this nation expect to be exempted from the travail of the entire human species?

NEVERTHELESS the continent and nation have long assumed this exemption and are outraged when it is violated. The Eisenhower Government, for example, was elected on the proposition that it could restore normality after the extravagance of its predecessors. The Diefenbaker Government was elected in Canada on the proposition that it could make life fuller and richer for everybody. Perhaps it can but only a child imagines that this or any other government is getting on top of the time of troubles which obviously is on top of them.

In considering normality these days we have to change our norm. The norm of stability, security and inevitable progress served our grandfathers, even our fathers, well enough but, in retrospect, it is seen as a pretty brief norm, a hundred years or so preceded and succeeded by times of troubles. The last six generations or so are the only ones in human history who seriously expected anything else. They expected too much.

TO be sure, every statesman has assured us solemnly, in the best ghost-written speeches, that we faced great problems. The word "crisis" has become shopworn and almost meaningless with over-use, until no headline can shock us. Writers in books, thoughtful citizens in study groups, professors in universities, orators in ladies' clubs, editors in newspapers have warned us over and over again that we have reached the great cross-roads of history, but it is perfectly clear now that the warning failed to penetrate, in America at least.

To be sure also, people go about saying that hydrogen bombs are dangerous, the Russians dreadful, governments foolish, times hard and automobiles too long for convenient parking. Especially in regard to the design of automobiles public thought is profound, incessant and furious.

BUT when some local calamity occurs, when the boats or the trains don't run, or prices rise or profits fall, it becomes plain that the ordinary human person, or at least the North American, has never really grasped the true nature of his times.

He feels cheated because he has never comprehended the rules of this game. Has he never truly realized that we are now playing for keeps, that the odds are heavily loaded against us in the Western world and that our enemies have been winning on all sides under another, and even more powerful set of illusions.

We say that the blame for our troubles rests with one leader or another, one policy or another or some obvious mistake of government. If it were only that, how easily we could get back to what we are pleased to call normality! If it were only that, an election could change everything when, in fact, it changes virtually nothing but the faces on the front page.

NO, the first, the essential and, up to now, the insoluble problem is to make the ordinary man realize the time of day and reconcile himself to the age he happened to be born into. Therein, and not in some specific problem, lies our greatest failure—a total failure of communication in the age of mass communication. The cry of wolf has been uttered so often that nobody pays attention to it any more.

Concerning these things a distinguished professor of history and philosophy told me the other night that it was useless to worry. Our Western culture, he said, was dying and, like all its predecessors, could not possibly be revived, since history moved in these cycles beyond our power to control it.

I observed, however, that he was making plans for a holiday, was preparing to write important books and was arranging for the security of his old age. Even the historian and philosopher does not really believe his own prognosis. Nobody believes that we face more than a passing storm, that things won't get back to normal pretty soon or that America cannot escape the time of troubles.

in considering normality these days we have to change our norm. The norm of stability, security and inevitable progress served our grandfathers, even our fathers, well enough but, in retrospect, it is seen as a pretty brief norm, a hundred years or so preceded and succeeded by times of troubles. Perhaps they have not the power under Dominion labor laws. Of this, I am not certain. But if the strike is not settled within a short time surely the Dominion government, which has jurisdiction over national defense, could order the Navy to come to our aid.

Would this involve more expenditure in naval estimates than sending the ships out on manoeuvres? Again, I do not know. But at least the men in the Navy would be employed in producing something and could keep Vancouver Island on the map.

Our Job

As an Englishwoman in Canada living in Victoria and proud of it, I beg to protest against the cry "Let's find Prime Minister Diefenbaker and pin our troubles to his coat tails."

Surely we have enough brainy men in B.C. business, men of determination and character, as well as our own Mr. Bennett whose smile has carried us over many a rough spot, but who is at the present moment a little man.

We are inclined to say: "Cheer up, though the field is lost all is not lost; get down to business, gather your trusty men around you and try to settle this strangling strike yourselves, remembering if God be with you who can be against you."

Good luck and good wishes.

France From the Outside

TO Americans, hoping not to be entangled in the French conflict, the skirmishing in Tunisia is ominous. For if it develops into serious fighting, which might lead to a reoccupation of Tunisian territory, the United States as a member of the United Nations will not be able to remain aloof. The local French forces engaged in Tunisia may or may not be under orders from Gen. Salan in Algiers. If they precipitate a Tunisian war, the United Nations cannot ignore them. Yet it will not be clear whether anyone but the commanders on the spot is to be held responsible.

This goes to show that it is of urgent importance that the insurrection in Algeria should be terminated quickly and that all French forces and political agents should be brought under the orders of the central French government. If that is not done soon, peace in the Western Mediterranean will be at the mercy of self-constituted military factions, responsible to no one but themselves.

The immediate danger is, in other words, not Communism. It is not Fascism. It is anarchy which could bring with it extended and uncontrollable disorder.

As there is now a censorship inside of France, Americans on the outside can speak to each other without meddling with the internal affairs of France. The question for us is at bottom whether the advent of Gen. de Gaulle would mean an end to the anarchy by a restoration of lawful authority, or whether his accession would be a stage on the road to the greater anarchy of a class war.

There is no certain answer to this fatal question. But what we can say, I think, is that the longer a solution of the crisis of government authority is delayed, the greater the likelihood that the crisis will become insoluble with incalculable disorder.

Nest in the Grass

IT seems to me that, as the years go by, I begin to remember them by some "birdy" happening in the neighborhood.

One year we remember as the year we had a family of mallard ducklings on the sump. I've forgotten how many there were, but I remember the little fluffy cluster swimming close behind the mother. And I remember the little last one who was always naughty and kept paddling off on his own. (There's apt to be one of those in every family!)

Another year we refer to as "the year we found the pheasant's nest in the place where Blossom had her calf." It was a very secret nest in a clump of dry bracken beneath a spreading bush of Oregon grape. I watched there one evening when a clumsy cow was tearing at the green grass that grew around the nest. The mother bird never moved, and, in the end, I pushed the cow away because I simply couldn't bear it.

1958, I think, will be the year of the pheasant's nest by the pear tree in a neighbor's orchard.

She'd made her nest in the tall grass growing just below the lowest pear tree.

None of us knew that it was there until last weekend when the grass was cut.

I hate to think how she must have felt when she heard the mower coming. Luckily, however, the tractor missed her as it passed just below the pear tree.

YOUR HEALTH

But the mower blade, extending, cut the grass that hid the nest. Why it didn't cut her to pieces, I don't know. For she was crouching there upon the nest. The mower blade went right over her. But she didn't fly up until it was past. Only then did my husband see the nest with the nine eggs in it.

I wasn't in the orchard at that time. I only saw the pheasant this afternoon. She was back on the nest and crouching low again. In fact, if she hadn't moved her bright eyes, we'd not have seen her at all. For she'd slithered in under the extra grass we'd scattered, and it lay protectively across her mottled back.

Tonight when we raked the hay and loaded it upon the truck, we left the patch by the pear tree. So, unless the dogs find the nest, she'll be safe.

It's late now, and I am growing sleepy as I sit typing on my knee in bed. But I like to think that out there in the dark the pheasant is sitting on her nest. Those eggs should hatch very soon, I think. And later, we'll be cursing. For, sure as fate, some of the pheasants from those eggs are certain to come with no sense of gratitude and make merry in our kitchen garden.

But somehow with the world the way it is, it seems extra-wicked to harm a defenceless mother-creature.

* * *

The shadow of the man-made mushroom cloud may stretch over us all, and we may talk glibly of horrors enough to drive a sane man mad, but at least that pheasant shall have her chance.

To tell you the truth, I love that gentle bird for being so persistent and so brave.

Tendency to Bleed

the lad starts to bleed terribly, there will be someone around who knows the last word about the disease and what can be done to help.

CONVULSIONS

I was just reading a fine article by Dr. M. G. Peterman of Milwaukee, who answers the question that so many anxious mothers ask, which is, "Will the small child who now goes into convulsions when he has fever have epilepsy later in life?" Dr. Peterman says that 74 per cent of these children have an abnormal electroencephalogram which suggests that there is something wrong with the brain, and often this abnormality is of epileptic type. Other neurologists have gathered statistics which show that more than half of the children who have convulsions tend to have convulsions later.

Dr. Peterman points out that the children most likely to have trouble later are those who have a prolonged convulsion, which lasts over half an hour, or those who have what is called a focal convolution, in which only an arm or a leg twitches. The outlook is particularly bad when there is a family history of convulsions or other troubles suggesting a poor nervous inheritance.

Dr. Peterman says one can get an epileptic type of history in almost half the cases. In my experience, in another quarter of the cases one can get a history of mental trouble, or a terrible temper, or mental retardation.

Children who go on having short seizures should be given some of the powerful anti-convulsive drugs. A very important point is that the parents should not try to hide the child away from doctors and everyone; they should quickly face the facts of this disease, just as they would face the facts of any other disease.

Pulp, Paper Waste Used to Make Tires

TORONTO (CP) —

A new compound that can take the place of natural rubber in tire production has been developed in Canada from the waste material of the pulp and paper industry.

A government chemist told a meeting at the Chemical Institute of Canada conference Wednesday that the compound can be manufactured economically from lignan, normally flushed into rivers after its extraction from pulp timber.

Lloyd H. Krichew of the National Research Council in Ottawa said intensive tests started in 1955 to find a substance that could be used to make tires for the Canadian Army if ever natural rubber supplies were cut off.

Heavy military tires, 20 inches in diameter, are normally made from 40 parts of natural rubber to 60 of synthetic. Tests have shown that the lignan compound, replacing the natural rubber, is more suitable, he said.

Strawberries and raspberries must receive water if the fruits are to swell and be deliciously flavored, but to hit the blossoms square in the eye with a full-pressure jet from a hose nozzle just ruins the pollen and lessens the crop.

A daily tea-

ing with a hose is just a waste of time and water. Better to use a canvas soaker and thoroughly saturate the roots or give one or two good soakings with a gentle rain from a revolving sprinkler.

When setting out any of the cabbage family give careful consideration to their placement so that they will not be in the way of the July vegetable sowings, nor all over the lot next winter.

Present work consists of getting rid of some plants and getting more of others. In the vegetable rows, drastic thinning is needed if size and flavor are to be obtained.

We recently heard of neighbors who do the thinning in each other's gardens, because, as one said, "It is heartbreaking to discard properly the seed-

'Cartel' Keeps Text Cost High

QUESNEL, B.C. (CP)—A group of school teachers told the B.C. royal commission on education Wednesday that a "virtual cartel" exists among educational publishers and is keeping textbook prices high.

STREET CARS IN HEAD-ON COLLISION

TORONTO (CP)—Two crowded street cars collided head-on at an intersection Wednesday night and 21 persons were treated for shock, lacerations and bruises at a nearby hospital. None was detained.

Passengers standing in both cars were knocked to the floor when a westbound Bloor Street car slammed into an eastbound car turning into Bathurst Street in the midtown area.

The street cars were badly damaged. Traffic was blocked for more than 30 minutes.

Peace Prizes Awarded By Russians

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union today announced the award of five Lenin Peace Prizes—four of them to citizens of non-Communist countries.

Moscow radio said the winners are Prof. Kaoru Yasui, Japanese expert on international law, cited as a "fervent advocate of prohibition of atomic and hydrogen weapons"; Arnold Zweig, German author of anti-war novels; Louis Saillant, French secretary-general of the World Federation of Trade Unions; Arthur Lindquist, Swedish author, and Prof. Joseph Hromadka, Czechoslovak theologian.

They were chosen as "prominent social leaders actively fighting for peace and peaceful co-operation among nations."

Winners of the awards, called the Stalin Peace Prizes until 1956, receive $25,000.

A brief presented by 24 local teachers complained also that frequent change in text books causes unjustified expense.

The commission's hearing in Quesnel concluded its May sitting during which it has also heard representations at Williams Lake and Lillooet. It will resume its sessions in July.

The Quesnel teachers' brief complained that B.C. students are not learning as fast as those in such countries as France and Russia.

The brief also said the present report card is not clear to most parents and when the parents do understand it, they frequently feel it is not sufficiently specific.

It said the quality and quantity of teacher supply are unsatisfactory and recommended that academic requirements for teachers be raised and that the University of B.C. offer a degree through correspondence courses.

Baby Stroller Thief Fined $10

Arthur Lloyd Williams, 885 Station, was fined $10 and $21 costs for theft of a baby stroller and $10 and $14.50 costs for stealing a wheelbarrow, when he appeared for sentence in Colwood RCMP court Wednesday.

The items were stolen from neighbors April 24 when Williams lived on Leigh Road. Williams was found guilty on both counts last week.

Suicide Attempt Blamed for Blast

MONTREAL (CP)—An explosion that wrecked a two-storey building in suburban Verdun Tuesday was the result of an alleged suicide attempt, police said Wednesday.

Verdun police director Pierre Gatineau told a police conference that J. Andre Boisclair, 40-year-old unemployed accountant, allowed gas fumes to fill his apartment, then struck a match.

Boisclair suffered severe burns. Hospital authorities reported his condition as slightly improved Wednesday but still critical.

Director Gatineau said Boisclair will be charged with attempted suicide if he gets better.

The blast first was believed

City to Host 300 Civic Governments

By JOHN MIKA

For four days next week the Empress Hotel will be the headquarters of Canada's civic governments.

Mayors, reeves, aldermen and councilors from 300 communities will converge on Victoria Sunday for the start of the 21st annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

A record attendance of more than 700, including 450 official delegates, is expected for the federation's first convention in Victoria.

Special arrangements have been made to get them across the Strait of Georgia despite the strike against the CPR ferries.

A special 18-coach CNR train left Toronto Wednesday night with delegates and their wives aboard. Others will join them as they cross the prairies.

Arriving in Vancouver Sunday morning, they will be brought to Victoria by Black Ball ferry and bus, in time for registration, a civic reception and aquacade entertainment at the Crystal Garden put on by the Greater Victoria municipalities.

DOWN TO WORK

Sunday afternoon and evening also will see a series of pre-conference meetings of various committees and panel leaders.

Opening session of the convention will begin with a devotional period led by Rev. H. J. Jones, rector of St. Mary's Anglican church of Oak Bay Monday at 9 a.m. in the Crystal Ballroom.

Other Greater Victoria ministers will lead devotional periods opening subsequent sessions.

Addresses of welcome by B.C. Municipal Affairs Minister W. D. Black and Mayor Percy Scurrah will be followed by special welcomes extended to provincial municipal affairs ministers and their deputies and visiting United States mayors, including New York City Mayor Robert Wagner.

ROLE OF MAYOR

A report from CFMM executive director George S. Mooney, Montreal, will precede the presidential address by Mayor L. D. Jackson of Hamilton, Ont.

"The Victoria Capital Plan" will be outlined to delegates at their first plenary session at 10:40 a.m. followed by three simultaneous seminars dealing with the role and function of the chief executive officers of municipalities, low cost housing and emergency telephone alarm reporting.

Following a luncheon tendered by the Bank of Montreal, the delegates will return to seminar sessions dealing with municipal public relations, planning public works, municipal boundary problems, industrial development and planning of better public transportation.

TALKS ON FINANCE

A Canadian Bank of Commerce reception at 5:30 p.m. and an address by Premier W. A. C. Bennett at 7 p.m. provincial dinner will complete the day.

Resolutions will be studied Tuesday at 9 a.m. in the second plenary session followed by a panel discussion of federal-provincial-municipal fiscal relations in which Reeve C. A. P. Murison of Duncan, president of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, will participate.

Seminars on tax problems of municipalities will precede a B.C. Electric luncheon at which Seattle Mayor G. S. Clinton will speak on American-Canadian relations.

Tuesday afternoon, delegates will be given a breather on salt water. They will board RCN ships at Esquimalt for a cruise in the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

TOUR OF GARDENS

At the same time, wives of delegates will reach the high point on a busy agenda of their own with a tour of Butchart Gardens.

Tuesday's dinner, at 6:30 p.m. in the Crystal Ballroom, will be tendered by the city of Victoria. Professional entertainment and no speeches will be the order.

The international committee of the United States Conference of Mayors and the CFMM will work late into the night at a meeting starting at 9 p.m.

URBAN PROBLEMS

Wednesday, further consideration of resolutions will be made at 9 a.m. followed by outlines of the problems of expanding cities by J. V. Fisher, financial advisor of the B.C. government, and planning, development and future growth of cities and towns by G. Sutton Brown, Vancouver's planning director.

Seminar sessions will concentrate on growth and re-development of small, medium and large municipalities.

A luncheon tendered by the City of Vancouver will precede the final plenary session at 2:45 p.m. when Mr. Brown speaks on growth and re-development in cities and towns.

Final report of the resolutions committee, selection of the site for the 1959 conference, election of new officers and installation of the new president will wind up the busy agenda at 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Minor Flood Threats Throughout Province

VANCOUVER (CP)—Minor flood threats appeared in various parts of B.C. today as runoff in the main river systems increased due to high temperatures in the now-covered upper levels of interior mountains.

Patrols were posted along Fraser River dikes Wednesday when the water level at Mission passed the 20-foot mark. The river rose almost six inches during Wednesday. This morning the gauge registered 20.58 feet.

In the north-central part of the province, the Skeena River rose almost 10 inches in 24 hours and today water was lapsing at shore installations and flooding ferry slips at Terrace.

The Columbia rose nearly 10 inches to 37.18 feet at Trail in 24 hours, and city engineer Ron S. Taylor says there is a danger of flooding if the hot weather, with temperatures of 90 to 100 degrees, doesn't break. Today's level is higher than last year's high of 36.52 feet.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: 1058 Clare, $30, for speeding over 30.

Frederick V. Vosper, 338 Obed, $15 for failing to signal when changing traffic lanes. Robert M. Moore, 1960 Beach, $20, and John Joseph Flynn, $20, and John Joseph Flynn, $20, and John Joseph Flynn, $20, James Frederick Anton, 1539 Church, $35 and restricted to business driving only for one month; Frederick C. Chivers, 338 Dallas, $35 and Ronald Page, 1322 Stanley, $35 and restricted to business driving only for one month, for careless driving.

Water Starts Fire

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. William Morgan left a jug of distilled water on the front seat of her automobile Wednesday. Twenty minutes later her husband saw the upholstery going up in smoke. The transparent jug and water had focused the sun's rays with such intensity that the fabric caught fire.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

New Waterford, Beacon Hill, Antigonish return 9 a.m. June 20.

Forfune, Miramichi return 2 p.m. June 5.

Ray's Razz-ma-Tazz Won Jaycees' Votes

Ray Rawnsley, 37, of 2650 Ritson, secretary; Jack Urquhart, treasurer; Laurie Blake, Al Bushan, George Colwill, Ken Courtney, Al Danes, Stewart Hagar, John Meyer and Dick Sunter, directors.

The new executive takes office July 1.

Off-street parking will be discussed Tuesday at a meeting of city public works committee and the Victoria Downtown Business Association. Ald. Geof. Geddie, vice-president; Don Frey Edgell said Wednesday.

'LUSTY INFANT' SOON TO BECOME GIANT

Dynamic Negro From Nova Scotia Force Behind Civil Servants Group

OTTAWA (CP)—J. C. (Cal) Best, president of the newly-formed Civil Service Association of Canada, describes the federal employees' union as "a lusty infant" soon to become a giant.

It will be the tall Negro's job for the next two years to bring this 26,000-member "baby" to maturity.

Mr. Best, 31, who for a time was uncertain whether to become a reporter or a lawyer, says this job is "just made for me."

One of his first moves to add stature to the CSAC will be to nominate Civil Servants of general civil servants still not organized.

"We're after just as many of them as we can get," the six-foot-one native of Nova Scotia said in an interview.

He also seeks a collective bargaining agreement for civil servants. It would have to be specially drafted to meet the peculiar situation in which the employer is the federal government.

A civil servant for seven years, he has taken a two-year leave of absence from his post as administrative officer in the labor-management co-operation division of the department, so he can handle the full-time post of CSAC president.

Victoria Daily Times
THURSDAY, MAY 29, 1958

LEGION PREFERENCES DOMINION'

EDMONTON (CP)—The Canadian Legion rejects the idea of the word "national" in the CSAC for a two-year term, replacing "Dominion" in legions business.

Delegates to the legion's biennial convention voted overwhelmingly to reject the change from "Dominion" to "national" although a Quebec delegate told them the change would keep them in step with "the majority of the Canadian people."

The Dominion convention also decided to change the legion's official name to "The Canadian Legion," deleting the "British Empire Service League" part of its title.

Collapse of Conciliation Forecast in Rail Dispute

MONTREAL (CP)—Union enal services of both major and railway negotiators will huddle privately with three workers who do not actually run trains—clerks, porters, freight handlers, maintenance men, machinists and others.

BOARD CASE SINCE MARCH

The contract squabble has been before a federal conciliation board since March 3, but the end now is in sight. Negotiations for the 15 unions are expected to conclude their arguments this week, followed by a fairly brief rebuttal from railway representatives.

At this point, Mr. Justice H. F. Thomson of Regina, chairman of the conciliation board, will summon a small committee from each side to bargain unchanged.

SEEK 30-CENT HIKE

The unions are seeking a wage increase that works out to about 35 cents an hour plus other benefits including a severance pay pool of $11,000,000. The demands have been rejected by the railways who want the present contract, which was to have expired last Dec. 31, extended for another year unchanged.

CHICKEN FEATHER TRAIL LEADS TO EGG THIEVES

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP)—Detectives followed a trail of chicken feathers Wednesday to arrest Wilbert Hinton, 19, and Richard E. Carroll, 21. Police accused them of breaking into the Washington poultry market, seizing five live chickens, some eggs and $150 from the cash register.

CMHC Loans Direct to Builders

OTTAWA (CP)—Builders of small homes now will get loans direct from the government's Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation rather than from private lending agencies, Works Minister Green announced today.

Mr. Green gave the Commons a brief statement to this effect in reply to a question from Lionel Chevrier (Laurier).

Later, a CMHC official said it will apply to builders—including owner-builders—of houses at about the price level of $12,500 including the cost of land.

Up to the present, CMHC has insured loans on higher-priced houses and advanced the money to lending agencies for so-called "agency loans" on lower-priced dwellings. Now, it will do the direct lending on the low-cost houses.

The corporation recently was voted an additional $350,000,000 by Parliament to finance housing operations.

The CMHC official said one effect of the change will be that the corporation will be able to advance money directly in any area. Previously, it had authority to lend funds directly but could not do so in communities of over 55,000 population.

Another effect will be that the government agency will have a closer control over the flow of money into housing.

"If private money dries up, we can put it out," the official said.

Big Investment Program Urged

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Chamber of Commerce executive council Monday urged the federal government to undertake a large capital investment program as an anti-recession measure.

In letters to the ministers of finance and national revenue, the council also recommends a go-easy policy on tax changes with an eventual reduction of tax rates, and some form of longer-term credit for exporters.

The council said in the letters government investment programs would be timely now because there likely will be some reduction in private capital spending with the tapering off of large projects.

Liberia, on the west coast of Africa, became an independent republic in 1847.

Waiting Hours Are the Worst

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Thirty-three men with a pocket-full of dreams and a body-full of nagging nerves waited impatiently today for a 500-mile run to the end of the racing rainbow.

"They are the qualifiers for the Indianapolis 500 Friday, and despite the dangerous, grueling ride in front of them, these are the worst hours of all. The late Wilbur Shaw, a three-time winner, summed it up best when he thought of the hours just before the man with the flag announced:

"Gentlemen, start your engines."

Shaw was the first man to win it three times—and had it won a fourth when he piled into the wall. Yet, even to him, it was always the same in those last waiting hours.

"It never changed," he said.

Missing Chalk Mark Stopped Shaw

It is worse, actually, than all of them on a waiting competitor. Because so many things can go wrong in this one—and fatally.

Shaw was an example, although he escaped from the motorized merry-go-round only to die in an airplane crash four years ago. Wilbur won it three times and in 1941 made painstaking preparations to become a four-time winner. He even went so far as to balance his own tires with microscopic attention.

"One of them wouldn't balance just right," he said. "So I marked it with a piece of chalk."

Jinx Rides In Winners' Cockpits

Other winners of recent years have had disastrously strange luck.

Lee Wallard, the 1951 victor, was burned so badly in his very next race that he never drove again. Bill Vukovich, shooting for a triple in 1955, carried a letter from his daughter saying:

"Put your foot through it, daddy. I need a new dress."

He "put his foot through it" in a fatal crash while leading. So Bob Sweiert went on to win that one—and was killed later in another race. So, too, was lean Jack McGrath of the bushy eyebrows. The same

HOMER BEATS MOUNTIES

Carlos Gave Fans Fever Injection

By Associated Press

There's nothing like a last-of-the-ninth, pinch-hit, grand-slam, game-winning homer to give the home crowd a knees-knocking case of baseball fever.

That's what the Sacramento Solons gave a crowd of 1,404 hometown fans Wednesday night as they beat the Vancouver Mounties, Pacific Coast League leaders, 5-2.

Carlings Blow Early Lead Against Scots

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Carlings lost an attempt to move out of the cellar of the Pacific Coast Soccer League when they lost a 3-2 decision Wednesday night to Vancouver St. Andrews.

Carlings surprised the 852 fans by going two goals up in the first half. At the nine-minute mark Jim Logan of St. Andrews scored into his own goal and Jack Hobbs made it 2-0 for Carlings 12 minutes later on a pass from Bill Smith.

Fifteen minutes before half-time, Bruce Ashdown of St. Andrews fired a shot at Eriand Christensen in the Carlings goal that trickled into the net. Just before the turnover, Brian Philley scored the equalizer after accepting a John Hally pass.

Ashdown cracked a spot kick to give St. Andrews the decision.

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP)—Washington State's new basketball coach, Marv Harshman, is looking to the future and things are already looking up.

Neil Diron, a six-foot-seven prep player from Duncan, recently decided to register at WSC. And now George Henningsgaard of Wenatchee, who stands six-foot-six, has informed Harshman he will attend Washington State next fall.

ISLAND CAGER PUTS SPARKLE IN COACH'S EYE

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP)—Washington State's new basketball coach, Marv Harshman, is looking to the future and things are already looking up.

Don McKenzie was the pick of the Manitoba backs while goalkeeper Johnny Gavrylik was a standout despite the 13 goals that got by him. He robbed the Hearts of at least another dozen goals with diving and jumping saves.

Another Aaron?

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves signed Hank Aaron's kid brother, Tom, to a minor league contract Wednesday night at Mobile. After a shortstop, he will report to the Braves farm team at Peoria this weekend.

LEONARD, BALDING TO TRY . . .

Stan Leonard hasn't played golf in Victoria since 1949 and Al Balding has never performed here, so the two professionals were asked what they thought about their chances of setting a new course record at Gorge Vale Club.

Stan and Al will both be trying for that same objective when they appear here Friday, June 13, on the fourth leg of a five-city B.C. tour.

The possibilities of record setting at a course we've never seen before are remote, but not out of the question," Leonard asked. "How well do we have to shoot?"

The recognized course mark is 65, scored a few seasons ago by Bob Fleming.

Although Leonard will be a stranger at Gorge Vale, the same doesn't hold true at

'HAVE WE FORGOTTEN ANYTHING?'

Plans for Times Centennial Bicycle Race on June 7 are getting final check this week. Hugh Francis (left), who will supervise timers in 100-mile open event from Qualicum to Victoria and novice event from Duncan, compares notes with Inspector W. M. Taylor, RCMP, who will direct traffic control on highways, and Vancouver's Ken Mangall (right), referee for novice race. (Times photo.)

THE SCOREBOARD

BY

Harry Grayson

NEW YORK (NEA)—The 85th edition of the Grand Circuit, the major league of American harness racing, opened a better than five-months run at Rosecroft Raceway in Maryland this week. The superior trotters and pacers will stay on big time until the mobile starting gate is driven out of their way for the last time at Hollywood Park, Inglewood, Calif., Nov. 8.

Gaited horses on the big wheel will compete this year for $3.5 million in purses at 19 meetings averaging one week each. This is a tremendous jump from the depression days of the mid-1930's, when men like E. Roland Harriman were very much concerned about getting new blood into the picture and keeping their favorite sport alive. The mobile gate and night racing put the breath of life back in a dying game.

As a caravan of owners, trainers, drivers and standard-bred and mounts of gear and feed van from coast to coast, the Grand Circuit is a phenomenon unmatched in any other sport. With circuses and other attractions having virtually abandoned nation-wide tours and short stops anywhere, it is amazing that a circuit of 19 racing meets can be held one after another in small towns such as the homes of the Hambletonian Stake and the Little Brown Jug in Du Quoin, Ill., and Delaware, O., respectively, and on the fringe of big cities and prove eminently successful.

Further demonstrating that the sulky sport is the more wholesome form of horse racing is that the Roarin' Grand, as it was nicknamed in the old days, roars on bigger crowds than ever at stops where there is no wagering of any kind. The $120,000 Hambletonian Stake, Aug. 27 this trip last summer for example, drew more people to the Du Quoin State Fair without betting than the number did at its former home, Goshen, N.Y., with pari-mutuels.

* * *

There is no betting at State Fair meetings in Springfield, Ill., and Sedalia, Mo., and Indianapolis and on Del Miller's Washington, Pa., farm. The people come to see the good horses, period.

It is still considered the ultimate achievement if an owner or trainer has a horse capable of matching speed with Grand Circuit campaigners.

When the Maryland meeting ends this Saturday, the Circuit will drop into and out of several major after dark gambling casinos, such as the gorgeous new plants, Roosevelt and Yonkers Raceways, adjacent to New York. The schedule includes stops at the nation's 10 largest night-time pari-mutuel tracks. These habitual horse players for two weeks at each place will see the finest all-round talent from all parts of the country.

Major night tracks are an important supplement to the Circuit, for they give men and horses an opportunity to stay put for many weeks at a stretch, thus saving traveling costs and wear and tear which some owners cannot afford and others simply don't wish to be concerned with.

The second most talked about event on the Grand Circuit is the $70,000 Little Brown Jug at the Delaware, O., County Fair meeting of Sept. 15-20. Just as the Hambletonian is the Kentucky Derby of the trots, so is the Jug its equivalent at the pacing gait, both being for three-year-olds.

* * *

Sharpshooter is the early favorite in the 33rd running of the rich Hambletonian. The colt is owned by the Arden Homestead Stable of E. Roland Harriman and Elbridge T. Gerry and trained and driven by Harry Pownall. He was the leading money winning two-year-old trotter last year with $50,393 and a mark of 2.024.

Ironically, Sharpshooters' home base is Goshen, N.Y., long-time site of the Hambletonian.

With all their $2 million nights, the New York tracks would not put up enough money to keep the Hambletonian.

So, Gene and Don Hayes took it to Du Quoin, miles from anywhere in southern Illinois, and made it bigger than ever. They knew an attraction when they saw one.

Spring Get-Together For Island's Seniors

Members of the Vancouver Victoria golfers have already staged their annual spring get-together Friday.

The event, to be played at Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club, will start at noon and foursomes will tee off at seven-minute intervals.

The 18-hole tourney is expected to attract approximately a dozen golfers from Vancouver. A total of 61

History in the Making? Patterson May Fight!

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Floyd Patterson will defend his heavyweight crown for the third time in July, somewhere outside New York State, it was learned Monday.

Manager Cus D'Amato is expected to announce the challenger and the site at any hour now.

Young Patterson will change training camps on Monday and begin serious preparations for the defence. He has been conditioning, off and on, for four months at Greenwood Lake, but will shift to a swanky country club at Monticello, N.Y., to have more privacy in his own cottage and more room to work in a large arena.

HAS HIS REASON

D'Amato has been negotiating with five different promoters and five different managers but has steadfastly refused to disclose any information about the negotiations, "lest some one try to prevent the match before it's signed."

He is a bitter crusader against the International Boxing Club.

Some boxing men guess that unbeaten Roy Harris will get the title shot in a fight at Houston, Tex. But that's only their guess. It is rumored that Texas backers have offered a large guarantee to Patterson.

Harris of Cut-and-Shoot, Tex.—winner of 21 straight professional starts—gets out of the army in a few days. He would have ample time to train for the fight. Roy is ranked fifth among contenders and should evoke no criticism as a challenger.

Champion Floyd, 23, hasn't fought since last Aug. 22 when he knocked out Pete Rademacher, Olympic amateur champion.

Because he wanted to learn how well he could do in competition against the continent's top cyclists, Godfrey Knox may have passed a trip to the 1958 world series.

The world series trip is the first prize in the novice event of the Times centennial bicycle race on June 7. Knox, although he had done considerable cycling in England before moving to Canada two years ago, would have been eligible for the novice run from Duncan to Victoria since he has never competed in a race.

IN OPEN EVENT

However, the 19-year-old Victorian filed an entry for the 100-mile event from Qualicum, which is open to all amateur riders and has attracted many of the continent's greatest pedal pushers.

"I thought I'd find out how an ordinary guy could do against those crack cyclists," he says.

Knox has been turning in some good times in practice runs and would have been one of the favorites in the tyro chase, but admits he'll probably have little chance in the 100-mile scramble for a first prize of a trip to the 1958 world amateur cycling championships in France.

One of the entrants in the novice event who should rate attention is 14-year-old Bill Beckwith of Vancouver. Owning the poise of an experienced rider, Beckwith is an outstanding bike-racing prospect and might surprise some of his older rivals in the race for the world series trip.

Beckwith, however, won't be the youngest rider in action on June 7. That distinction will go to 13-year-old Don O'Dell of Vancouver.

Friday's draw follows:

1—Mike Morris, Slim 12.00—F. Smith, Arnold Edmonds, 12.07—Nelson Monier, Jack Brown, W. Graham Chambers, Sid Maddocks, 12.14—Larry McCrae, Roy Rumley, 12.21—Harold Lineham, P. F. Margeson, Alex Drysdale, Gert Sparling, 12.28—Chas. McMillan, Reg. Smith, R. Stoke, R. Williams, 12.35—R. Fortier, Geo. Quincy, J. D. Morrison, Dick Darus, 12.42—Alex. St. John, W. Quast, Basil Porritt, H. Fosbrook, 12.49—C. Robertson, W. Armstrong, Fred Morrison, Creighton, 12.56—Sid. Trivett, G. White, Dr. M. Olsen, P. Fisher, 1.03—Geo. Greenwood, J. # Easy Sailing After Rough Spot Passed

Bruce Shaw, pitching a six-hitter, led his Naden Chiefs to an 8-5 win over Esquimalt Lions in Esquimalt-Victoria West Little League action at Bullen Park Wednesday.

Shaw was in serious trouble only in the fourth inning, when Lions ganged up to score four times. The young hurler managed to work himself out of the tight spot to find clear sailing the rest of the way.

Chiefs pounced on the combined offerings of Don Lancaster and Frank Lee for 10 safeties.

In Connie Mack League play at Athletic Park, Robin Barnes of Optimists tossed a neat five-hitter to silence Duncan, 16-3.

Barnes also helped his own cause with a perfect night at the plate, including a triple and two singles.

In Oak Bay Little League action at Windsor Park, Pollard Construction maintained its hold on second place with an 8-5 win over Northwest Velvets.

Bob Shepherd and Pete Jolly combined to pitch Autometrics to a lopsided 10-4 victory over Lions in the American Little League, breaking the game wide open in the sixth with seven runs.

FULL TORONTO TRADING

MARKET SUMMARIES

Victoria Daily Times THURSDAY, MAY 29, 1958 15

Toronto Holds Firm In Moderate Trading

With the exception of base metals the Toronto stock market was firm today in moderate mid-afternoon trading. Base metals moved back from their low of the day but remained down almost one-quarter point.

Industrials, western oils and golds did little more than change a few decimal points.

Selective strength kept the New York market moderately ahead today. Republic Aviation was a feature, up two points.

Motors, rubbers, coppers, oils and chemicals were on the upside. Leading rails were mixed. Gains of about a point were shown by Goodyear, Goodrich, Curtiss-Wright, Anaconda and Amerada.

Flax had aggressive demands from most sources. There were no reports of export business but trade reports indicated France has shown interest in flax purchases.

Oats and barley trade had aggressive shipper support and trade reports indicated small lots of barley had been sold to the United Kingdom. The United States was credited with purchases of oats.

Rye also had an active trade prompted by reports of damage to Canadian rye crops.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included West Germany 650,000 bushels, the United Kingdom 600,000; The Netherlands 440,000; Russia 355,000, and Belgium 30,000.

Hoover is the parent company of Hooker Chemicals Ltd., which has a plant at North Vancouver, B.C. Hooker will issue $41,776 shares of common stock to exchange for all of Sheas 1,401,010 outstanding shares.

Ottawa to Boost Farm Loan Fund To $6 Millions

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Farm Loan Board's fund for mortgage loans to farmers is to be boosted to $6,000,000 from $4,000,000.

Finance Minister Fleming game Commons notice of an amendment to that effect. The government's intent was contained in the throne speech.

The board makes loans to farmers at interest of 5 per cent and officials have said that the $4,000,000 for this purpose is gradually being used up. The government can make loans to the board of up to 20 times its capitalization.

Loans made during the 1956-57 year totalled nearly $14,000,000, secured by first and second mortgages. This was up about $6,000,000 on the previous fiscal year.

In 1957, the fund was boosted to the present $4,000,000 from $1,000,000.

Judge Rebukes Defence Lawyer For Jabs at Bribe Case Witness

VANCOUVER (CP)—A defence lawyer's suggestion that the Crown's key witness in the Sommers bribery-conspiracy case might change his story before the defence is through with him brought a sharp rebuke Wednesday from Assize Court Justice J. O. Wilson.

It was the sterner clash between the bench and counsel in the now 15-day-old trial of former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers, three other individuals and four companies. The Crown charges bribery and conspiracy in connection with issuing of government timber licences.

CLOSE QUESTIONING

Rebuked was veteran counsel Alfred Bull. He was closely questioning star Crown witness Charles Eversfield about the witness' reference to the "Schultz-Sommers-Pacific" fund.

The Crown claims it was through this fund that certain monies were split between Sommers, C. D. Schultz and H. W. Gray.

Eversfield admitted under cross-examination it was his own designation.

"You put that tag on it, didn't you?" Bull asked the witness sharply.

"I referred to it that way, yes, in reference to my testimony."

"And with very sinister results," counsel suggested.

"If my choice was an unhappy one I'm sorry, but it's true," replied the former accountant with Pacific Coast Services Limited.

"Maybe you will change your grounds before the defence is over," Mr. Bull remarked.

JUDGE ANNOYED

Mr. Justice Wilson, obviously annoyed, whipped off his glasses and said in a sharp tone: "Mr. Bull, I will not have that sort of remark made here."

When Mr. Bull began to say something else, the judge snapped: "I have given you instructions, Mr. Bull. Please obey them."

There were other legal clashes during the day as the Crown finished its examination of Eversfield and defence cross-examination began. It is on documents Eversfield took from Pacific Coast Services files when he left his bookkeeper's position there in 1955 that the Crown mainly bases its 38-count indictment.

GROUNDS CHARGED

Charged are Sommers, H. W. Gray, John Gray, Charles D. Schultz, the C. D. Schultz Company Limited, Pacific Coast Sales, Evergreen Lumber Sales and B.C. Forest Products.

Earlier, Eversfield, under Crown examination, identified a prosecution document as calculations he had made for H. W. Gray about money coming in and out of the alleged split fund. The document showed $193,000 flowed through the fund.

It indicated that at the time the document was prepared—it was not dated—$31,495.34 had gone to H. W. Gray, $18,897.21 to Sommers and $17,696.28 to Schultz.

FOR INCOME TAX

He said Gray told him at the time not to forget to deduct 25 per cent from payments earmarked for Sommers on which Pacific expected to pay income tax.

Mr. Bull, who is defending Schultz and his firm, opened defence cross-examination by establishing Eversfield was a school teacher and a shipyard worker before becoming bookkeeper for the Pacific firm in 1951.

The counsel suggested that as defence bookkeeper, Eversfield was in a position of trust and loyalty to his employer.

"He had my trust and loyalty," Eversfield replied.

"We'll see about that," Mr. Bull shot back.

TOOK DOCUMENTS

Counsel then questioned Eversfield about more than 200 documents he had taken from Pacific files. Eversfield told of taking them, having many photostated and taking them to

Los Angeles in a trunk and briefcase where they had been photostated again after an RCMP investigation began.

Mr. Bull suggested Eversfield knew about charges made before the commission on forest management conducted by former chief justice Gordon Sloan late in 1955 by Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy. It had resulted in a slander suit being brought by Mr. Sommers against Sturdy, a suit subsequently dismissed.

Eversfield said he knew only what he had read in the papers. "MUCH INVOLVED"

Mr. Bull attempted to read the statutory declaration and Crown prosecutor Victor Dryer objected. Mr. Justice Wilson asked why it should be read since "the witness was not involved in the lawsuit."

"I don't agree with that," Mr. Bull replied. "My case will show that he (Eversfield) was very much involved and may still be. Though the case is over now, perhaps the payoff has not come yet, you see."

When the judge suggested Mr. Bull was trying to question the witness on something with which he was not factually familiar, the lawyer slammed down his papers and said:

"If Your Lordship is going to take the responsibility for rejecting this, I won't press it."

GIBSON OFFICE

He then suggested that in 1955 Eversfield went to the office of former Liberal MLA Gordon Gibson—a wealthy B.C.

timberman—with others, and the Eversfield documents and the statutory declaration made before the Sloan commission were discussed.

Again the Crown objected. Mr. Bull shot back that it would be known to the court "before this case is over what was said there (before the Sloan commission) if I have to call for former chief justice Sloan himself."

Mr. Justice Wilson finally permitted Mr. Bull to question the witness about what he actually knew about the happenings.

Mr. Bull suggested to Eversfield that he knew Sturdy had gone before the Royal Commission and made a statement about evidence of passage of money for forest management licences and there was "a certain body of information" to show that the minister had received private payment.

"IT MAY BE"

Eversfield said he recalled documents from Pacific files, that Sturdy had gone to the Eversfield refused to admit they or knew of wrongdoing—it may be what you describe."

Questioned about taking the Eversfield documents and had said he had been "taken by stealth" or even taken secretly, though he admitted his employer didn't know about his action.

Eversfield said there had come a point in his employment at Pacific that he "knew" of what he considered unlawful undertakings. He had made the decision to take the Pacific documents over the 1954 Christmas holiday and actually took most of them the following January. He left the firm March 31, 1955.

Eversfield said he was convinced at the time he took the documents that the "activities" were "not unknown to others."

NOW POWER STRIKE THREATENED

All London's Wheels May Stop

LONDON (Reuters) — A be ready to back the bus stop threat of complete paralysis of public transportation in London was posed today by 3,000 power station workers.

The capital is already in the grip of a bus strike, which for 25 days has thrown an even greater burden on the city's subway network.

Union leaders of 3,000 workers in London power stations, which supply the subway and electric commuter trains with current, now are understood to walkout more effective.

Power station leaders of the Transport and General Workers Union—the giant labor group which also takes in the busmen—were reported prepared to recommend withdrawal of their men from nationalized electrical generating plants and stations which supply power to the subways. Other unions concerned were being consulted.

A sympathy strike by the power men could, by cutting off current to the subways, paralyze public transportation.

SPANISH POET JIMENEZ DIES

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI)—Juan Ramon Jimenez, 76, Spanish-born Nobel prize-winning poet, died today of bronchial pneumonia.

He died in Mimiyas Hospital, the same one in which his 69-year-old wife died of cancer on Oct. 28, 1956. Three days earlier—on Oct. 25—the Swedish Academy of Literature in Stockholm awarded him the 1956 Nobel Prize for literature for his lyrical poetry—particularly for his work, "Platero and I."

Londoners thus far have suffered only minor inconveniences as a result of a wage strike by 50,000 bus workers.

The bus strike, covering a 2,000-square-mile area, affects about 10,000,000 persons; one-fifth of the country's population.

To replace 8,400 missing buses, Londoners are using the subways, autos, bicycles and any other personal means of transport.

Tear Gas, Hoses Break Up Riotous Student Hi-Jinks

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—Authorities broke out tear gas and fire hoses and turned them on boisterous University of Georgia students Wednesday night after a panty raid got out of hand. "We had to disperse them," Police Chief J. H. Porterfield said. "They just got out of hand."

PRESIDENT RENE COTY

PARIS (Reuters)—President Rene Coty is the man in the middle of France's perennial political crises as he continues the task of trying to bring stable government to the republic.

Esteemed by the public and above the squabbles and shifts of government, the 76-year-old Coty is the one politician in France that nobody criticizes—not even the Communists.

As the only person under the French constitution who can name a new head of government, Coty has been the key elect a successor to President Vincent Auriol.

After 41 deadlocked ballots, amid growing public indignation, Coty's name was brought forward and in the 13th ballot he was elected.

Since the army-led coup May 13 in Algeria that touched off the current crisis, Coty has remained largely in the background. But his official residence has been visited by virtually every important politician, and in 1949 became its vice-president.

in 1924 as a left republican, and was elected to the Senate in 1935. Following the Second World War—which he spent quietly in Le Havre after refusing Vichy government offers of administrative posts—he returned to the National Assembly and was minister for reconstruction in 1947.

The following year he was elected to the new upper chamber, the Council of the Republic, and in 1949 became its vice-president.

Coty was thrown into the limelight when the National Assembly met five years ago to

Boy of 6 Sues Hospital For 'Neglect at Birth'

Short Leg Blamed On St. Joseph's

A six-year-old boy sued the Sisters of Saint Ann in the B.C. Supreme Court today for alleged neglect after his birth in St. Joseph's Hospital, Victoria, on May 21, 1952.

Michael John Hillyer of 1961 Ash, Victoria, is suing through his parents, Petty Officer Ellis W. Hillyer of the Royal Canadian Navy and Mrs. Olive Frances Hillyer, who trained as a nurse at St. Joseph's Hospital.

They claim that, because of neglect after the boy was born, he developed an infection as a result of which his right leg is now four inches shorter than his left.

"By the time this little boy is grown up, one leg will be about six inches shorter than the other," said George Gregory, appearing for the Hillyers.

The case is being heard by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane and an eight-man jury sworn in this morning. Shortly after Mr. Gregory began his address to the jury, the public gallery filled up with Victoria High School students.

"Do counsel object to the presence of these students?" asked Mr. Justice Macfarlane. "No, my Lord, this is a public place," answered Joseph McKenna, QC, defence counsel for the Sisters of Saint Ann.

"I have no objection, My Lord," said Mr. Gregory.

Mrs. Hillyer sat opposite the jury with her husband who was in naval uniform.

Mr. Gregory said Mrs. Hillyer was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital on May 18, 1952, and the baby was born three days later. On May 26 the hospital took a blood test from one of the boy's toes in connection with circumcision.

TOE INFECTED

Two days later, the toe became badly infected. Treatment was given, the boy's temperature was brought down to normal and he was discharged.

On May 31 an abscess formed on the bottom of the toe and a week after that there was an onset of temperature and swelling.

The boy was readmitted to St. Joseph's and remained under treatment until July 5. At that date, Mr. Gregory said, he was found to be suffering from osteomyelitis.

"Six months later the disease had its effect and the family doctor discovered one of his legs was shorter than the other. He has been under the care of the family doctor and orthopedic specialists ever since."

"The growth of the right leg has been arrested and, as the left leg grows, the difference between them is increased."

Mr. Gregory claimed that if the hospital had exercised proper care "this boy would not be in the condition he is today."

Mrs. Hillyer gave evidence that she saw the baby two hours after he was born.

"He was then a normal healthy baby," she said.

Mrs. Hillyer added that she trained as a nurse at St. Joseph's Hospital from 1949 to 1952 and re-entered the hospital as a patient the same year.

Stores Can Open All Wednesday But Many Won't

Starting next Wednesday, Victoria stores may stay open until 6 p.m. from June to mid-September.

Last-minute decisions are still to be made by many merchants whether or not they will open or close.

However, all the major furniture stores, appliance stores, at least two sporting goods stores and several shoe stores have decided to stay closed all day Wednesday.

Secretary-manager of the chamber of commerce, Arnold Webb, said the indication is that the majority of stores will stay open Wednesdays, but the picture is still confused.

Smaller stores catering to the tourist trade are expected to remain open, and establishments that have been open to 9 p.m. Friday will continue the practice.

BRIG. HAMILTON GAULT
... regiment's founder.

TAKES SALUTE SATURDAY

'Pats' Founder Visits 'His Boys'

By TONY DICKASON

Founder of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry and honorary colonel of the regiment, Brig. Andrew Hamilton Gault, Montreal, is in Victoria today visiting "his boys."

The 76-year-old distinguished soldier, thrice-wounded veteran of three wars, will take the salute Saturday at the trooping of the color at West Point barracks by the regiment's first battalion stationed there.

"What we want to discuss on a man-to-man basis are the various ways in which the federal government can help with the financial problems facing municipalities today," he said. "We're certainly pleased with the prime minister's decision to hold the meeting."

The 76-year-old distinguished soldier, thrice-wounded veteran of three wars, will take the salute Saturday at the trooping of the color at West Point barracks by the regiment's first battalion stationed there.

At noon today, the brigadier will address the men's mess in the barracks with enlisted personnel, and was slated to attend a gathering in the sergeants' mess later in the day.

This morning he paid a call on Mayor Percy Scurrall, and "left his card" at "Government House" as Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross was out of town.

Brig. Gault, who lost a leg in conflict, uses two canes which he calls "my pegs." He treats his war wounds as a lark despite difficulty in mobility.

It was in 1914 that young Gault, who had already seen Boer War service as a subaltern, contributed $10,000 to the Canadian government which was used to found the Princess Patricia's.

He denied having been an "angel" to the regiment since, despite reports to the contrary.

The regiment has been the independent angels, not this old man. They have been terribly good, you know."

The regiment is just keeping me in the picture."

Of the photographer taking

Brig. Gault said his picture

PPCLI members to attend the ceremonies Saturday will be

"my dear old friend, Major Ben Harrison of Nanaimo."

"He served under me in the First World War. We write to each other every year. Dear old Ben was an excellent officer—very 'long in the tooth'."

The brigadier is wearing the maroon and gold PPCLI regimental tie, because, "I'd be lynched if I didn't."

He was asked why he raised the regiment in the first place.

"That was 44 years ago, a long way to go back. It was merely a contribution. When a war is on one wants to get into it."

Italian Sun Hats Are Here—Mad, Gay and Adorable!

By PENNY SAVER

Recently a number of my friends have been taking their sun bathing on the local beaches under snappy, wide-brimmed straw hats that look slightly mad but wonderful! So I twisted their arms (figuratively speaking) and made them tell me where they found them.

Now I've taken a good look at the collection I'm even more excited about these sun hats. Some are in garish pinks, others are chartreuse, many are in muted tones and they are decorated with tiers of straws, bits of simulated grass or perky bows.

Made in Italy, they start in price at 59 cents. Take it from me: If you want a circle of envious eyes around you...buy and wear one!

Taking the kiddies on a holiday trip? Don't let them get in your hair during the excursion...just because they're bored! Before you go, dash down and buy several English games books. They're paper back with colorful pages of puzzles, crossword games, coloring contests and "thinking" games.

Junior land company will probably get more kick out of the books than the trip! Books are .29 cents each...and they're big! *

Horoscope birthday cards are all the rage! Delightful floral (the flower of the month) cards are selling at 15 cents and up; with the horoscope of the recipient inside.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Hairlines and Hair Are Part of Beauty Scheme

Most men are acutely conscious of their hairline. It seems to me that women are apt to forget about theirs. Yet the hairline has much to do with beauty in our sex.

If you have a Widow's Peak, play it up by sweeping your hair off your forehead. You even emphasize it by darkening the point of the peak with an eyebrow pencil. If you have a homely hairline at the forehead, you can hide this with bangs. Regular bangs which come down on the forehead are not becoming to all women, but those which fluff up at the hairline may be extremely flattering, especially if the forehead is splendid. There are splendid tonics for these conditions and they should be used regularly. Also a tight scalp should have a rousing massage every single day or night. This expert compared the tight scalp to soil which is too tight about a plant so that it cannot be properly nourished.

Many women who have a heavy head of hair still experience some thinning at the hairline as they grow older. One of the world's greatest hair experts once told me that the thinning hairline can be remedied or at least controlled. Her feeling was that it could be avoided if certain routines were employed before it ever occurred.

For instance, a tight scalp or one which is too dry or too oily are the forerunners of the thinning hairline.

It is certainly good therapy to stimulate the circulation in your scalp until the latter is pink. Press your thumbs in at the base of the skull and work upward.

Remember, too, that worry and emotional strains affect our topknots in more ways than one. Another warning: Do not expose your hair to very hot bright sunlight for long periods at a time without providing some protection.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Framing Your Face Attractively" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 51. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Who orders the dinner? Should a man taking a woman to dinner in a restaurant order the meal for both, or should she order for herself?

Louise Davis answers: As a rule, the man does the ordering for both. He is as much a host at a restaurant table as he would be in his own home. When ordering, he should be solicitous of his guest by asking Louise Davis what she would like or by suggesting something he thinks she would like. When dating, a man can make quite an impression by going through this routine, for he is obviously interested and anxious that his lady have what she particularly likes. He is therefore thoughtful and that always "goes over big." This procedure shouldn't stop after he is married, either!

Never mind the crumbs: My husband and I went to a dinner party recently where the hostess crumbed the table before serving dessert, and I wondered if I had been remiss in not doing so. Please tell me if this should always be done.

Celebrate an Anniversary

A golden wedding anniversary was celebrated in this city recently by Dr. Charles Durden and Mrs. Durden, formerly of Victoria and now of Tidewater, Ore. The couple were married here on June 3, 1908 in Calvary Baptist Church. Date of the anniversary celebrations was advanced a few days so the couple's youngest son, Mr. Sam P. Durden could join them. Mrs. Durden is the former Miss Ethel Wilson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilson, old-time residents of Victoria.

Reception was held in Princess Charlotte Room, Empress Hotel for the couple at which they were presented with a framed photograph on behalf of their family. Among guests at the affair was Mr. Archie Wilson who proposed the toast to the bride at the wedding 50 years ago and Mrs. Henry Driver, formerly Miss Dorothy Few, who was the bridesmaid.

Engagement Announced

Engagement is announced by Mr. and Mrs. J. D. ### THE FUR BRIGADE ON ITS WAY SO THE COAST

The port for the huge western fur empire was Fort Vancouver. If you look at a map you will see that it is a long trip from Fort Kamloops south through the Okanagan to Fort Vancouver on the Columbia. However, this was the route by which the furs were transported on the backs of a long line of 200 pack horses to the coast and the waiting ships.

In this picture the artist has shown the

New Caledonia brigade following the pack trail beside beautiful Okanagan Lake. The chief factor can be distinguished at the head of the column wearing a beaver hat. This overland route south was used from the time Fort Vancouver was established until about the time of the Oregon Treaty. Travellers today between Penticton and Kelowna can see a cairn at Westbank marking a spot where the traders paused on their way south.

know the full facts they tend to make up an imaginary story. So it was with the dugong. The sailors saw only half of him and invented the other half. True, the mermaid is more beautiful than the dugong. But the dugong is real and she is not.

The Sirens

Mermaid stories go back to ancient times. The story of Ulysses says that he was tempted by the siren song of mermaids. Do the experts who studied and classified the dugong believe that old sailor's yarn? Well—they could not really have believed it. But when it came to naming the dugong family of animals, they certainly remembered it. For the order to which the manatees and dugongs belong is Sirenia—the sirens.

The sirens, or Sireniens as the experts call them, are water dwelling mammals. They are warm blooded, air breathing animals whose babies are born alive. Mamma Dugong has but one baby at a time and she is a very loving mother. She feeds him on mother's milk, plays with him and cradles him in her flippers.

Can't Sing
The dugong has no hind flippers. But he has a most amazing tail. Its two sides spread out to form a horizontal rudder like the tail of a whale.

The dugong's face is often set in folds of skin and blubber. His mouth is large and so are his nostrils, but his eyes are small. His face may be ornamented with a few bristles though the rest of his leathery skin is usually bare. Papa Dugong wears a pair of long yellow tusks. Mamma Dugong has no tusks.

He enjoys life around Australia, in the back-waters of the Red Sea, the Indian Ocean, the Solomon and the Marshall Islands. The big, fat fellow loves warm water rich with juicy water weeds.

Though he has a gentle nature the dugong is no beauty. In the water he resembles a bloated mattress covered with greyish leather. Fully grown, he is about nine feet long. The massive head tapers back to a slender tail. There are two front flippers used for swimming. Mamma Dugong also uses her flippers to cuddle her baby.

What is a dugong?

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

To your question "What is a dugong?" I answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and the second question a Hammond's Atlas or Globe.

Addres your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Martin Zipkin, age 12, of New Hyde Park, N.Y., for his question:

What is a dugong?

The dugong is a distant relative of the manatee and the sea cow. The dugong has been known since Bible days. The seacow was discovered in 1741 and the last of the big gentle creatures perished in 1766. In 25 years man hunted it out of existence. There are a few manatees browsing among the waterweeds of southern rivers and bayous in the U.S., but the dugong is not found near our shores and probably never was.

WATER SCARCE TOO*Park Sites
Nearly All
Swallowed Up

Land and water acquisition for British Columbia parks, camp sites and marinas is already becoming a problem, Minister of Recreation and Conservation E. C. Westwood said Wednesday.

He told an audience of U.S. visitors here with a recreation sub-committee of the Columbia Basin Inter-Agency Committee:

"This is particularly apparent in the more settled areas, such as the east coast of Vancouver Island and the lower mainland coast, from Vancouver to Powell River."

Suitable Crown lands also are scarce in the Gulf Islands and in the Okanagan Lake region. Maintaining public access to hunting and fishing lands is another problem in view of "rapid population and industrial growth," he said.

Mr. Westwood said the growth of pleasure boating in B.C. is a recreational phenomenon.

The time is not far off when bays will be boiling with boats as . . . the highways are crowded with cars."

Stemming from this study, my department has embarked on a program of land and water acquisition . . . whereby as a first step, a network of boat anchorages will be established throughout the Strait of Georgia."

Chairman of the visiting U.S. group was noted Pacific Northwest conservationist, Marshall N. Dana.

Phone Dividend
Out of Surplus

VANCOUVER (CP) — After averaging nine per cent, American economist said Wednesday the B.C. Telephone Company will probably have to dip into its surplus this year to pay its usual $2 dividend on common stock.

Dr. J. R. Foster of Washington, whose firm was retained by B.C. Telephone to study what would constitute reasonable earnings and surplus provisions in its operations, said the dividend action would have occurred even if the rate increase the company is seeking had been in effect throughout the year.

He was testifying at a Board of Transport Commissioners hearing into the company's application for rate increases av-

FRIDAY, MAY 30, 1958

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) — Morning confusion caused by trying to get work done and squeezing in some fun, too, can be cleared up quickly by doing work first. Then in afternoon, see that you set up better system based on workable principles of yesterday. P.M. have fun.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 18) — Endeavoring to get home duties done and attending to civic, outside affairs at the same time is impossible. Just take things as they come, most important being considered first, and be very wise, controlled in your actions. Then all is OK.

GEMINI (May 19 to June 17) — Develop the habit of perfect equilibrium today. Don't waver from over-excitement to boredom. With this change of attitude, you will find out just how much you can really accomplish and feel so much more rested in p.m. balance now.

MONS CHILDREN (June 18 to July 16) — The present situations have you feeling quite keyed up, so relax early in the day and take things more calmly, more philosophically. Then you refrain from temptation to splurge, have a quarrel with closest tie. Gain greater wisdom.

LEO (July 17 to Aug. 14) — This is one of those Leonic days when your tongue is a whip lash that would run down all those within reach of it. Use this powerful force positively instead to further your ambitions and bring order out of chaos.

VIRGO (Aug. 15 to Sept. 22) — Don't waste time bickering or bewailing over some minor unpleasant condition today. Utilize your energy on constructive work, such as reports, letters, etc., and wear a smile. Your mind is very active. Use it wisely now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 21) — Are fortunate in having a pal today give you pointers and ideas that are invaluable. Be all ears and forget the petty bills that have you in a dither. Concentrate on the important things.

SCORPIO (Oct. 22 to Nov. 19) — While one who has great power over your affairs cannot see eye to eye with you on some issue, you still would want to enforce your ideas, which would be dangerous and foolhardy. Relax. P.M. be very careful while driving.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 20 to Dec. 18) — The solutions to many of your problems are today to be found in your paper and other periodicals. Discard antiquated things and ideas, and follow through on new modus operandi, raise your consciousness to very high level.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 19 to Jan. 16) — Any over-estimation of your ability or amount of possessions could today jeopardize the security and stability you now possess. Get advice of expert pal who will show you how to budget and invest wisely. Be smart.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 17 to Feb. 14) — Be sure to hold fast to tried and true methods and ideas today, or that associate of yours who thinks high, wide and handsome could persuade you to part with much of your abundance and present security in your work.

PISCES (Feb. 15 to March 20) — If you have not approached those fascinating new friends who have expressed the desire to join with you in some corporate venture, now is the time to do so, for they are in the right mood. Forget the petty, or you lose out.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN FRIDAY . . .

The lovely child born Friday is the type who will give others the impression that beauty is only skin deep, when in reality there is a very fine mind at work under all the pulchritude. Of course, the temptation to swagger will be apparent, but the reason will always be paramount and so the will. Teach the Golden Rule early, humanitarianism, ethics. The adult will be a wonderful worker, friend.

Brazilian Power Profits Decline

TORONTO (CP) — Brazilian Henry Borden, president, says that while gross revenues increased in the year, offsetting increases in operating expenses, depreciation and amortization resulted in a lower net profit.

This was equal to $1.52 a share on 17,294,671 shares issued at year end compared with $2.19 a share on 16,472,495 shares at the end of 1956.

The annual report signed by

Halt Called On Vandalism At Island Park

The B.C. Department of Recreation and Conservation has asked the RCMP to halt senseless vandalism which has almost ruined the historical value of Petroglyph Park, south of Nanaimo.

Minister of the department, E. C. Westwood, said today he has written as well to Nanaimo council and chamber of commerce asking assistance in preservation of the park.

The roadside park was built around a collection of hillside rock carvings first discovered by Indians over 100 years ago.

Mystery of the carvings has never been solved. It is believed they are the work of a civilization which preceded the Indians.

In recent years they have been defaced by vandals who have carved amateurish drawings on the same rocks. Hillside trails have been turned into slides. New picnic tables have been defaced and park laboratories have been also misused.

Mr. Westwood said he has been assured by the RCMP that regular patrols will be made of the park in future and everything possible will be done to protect the rare carvings and park accommodations.

Fatal Heart Attack Follows Wasp Sting

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — William Eli Key, 35, city water department employee, died Wednesday shortly after being stung on the lip by a wasp. The family doctor said the 300-pound man apparently died from a heart attack brought on by the sting.

be put in office legally and swiftly or the country faces the risk of bloodshed.

Auriol, a member of the Socialist party that also has bitterly opposed de Gaulle, said in a letter to the general that "civil war is at our gates."

restore the unity that has been compromised and that now depends on you," he added, literally pleading with de Gaulle to take over.

The appeals from Coty and Auriol, and de Gaulle's response, were broadcast on a bulletin basis throughout France.

ASSEMBLY ADJOURNED

The news spread across Paris. The Assembly reconvened briefly to handle routine legislation, then adjourned to stand by for an emergency session.

Crowds gathered outside Coty's official residence at the Elysee Palace, and the air of tension mounted.

The 76-year-old Coty told the assembly he was asking de Gaulle to see what can be done toward a thorough reform of the constitution which in the last 13 years has enabled the assembly to overthrow 25 French governments.

Coty's stunning announcement in an unprecedented message to emergency meetings of both houses of the French parliament came "against a background of open revolt in Algeria and Corsica and an assembly so hopelessly divided against itself that de Gaulle seemed the only solution short of a military dictatorship or a Communist-controlled 'popular front.'

HAND OVER POWERS

Coty said that if his solution proved the wrong one he could only hand over his powers under the constitution to the National Assembly president.

Committees of public safety first were formed immediately after the revolution of 1789 which led to the guillotining of King Louis XVI. The first was followed by a second which came to exercise virtual dictatorial powers under Robespierre. It fell of its own excesses.

Coty said he is calling in de Gaulle "to examine . . . what in the framework of republican legality is immediately necessary for a government of National Safety."

PROFOUND REFORM

The de Gaulle government, Coty said, would see what could be done "in a short or long time, to carry out a profound reform of our institutions."

Coty's message was read to the National Assembly by Andre le Troquer, its president, and the man who would succeed Coty if he carries out his threat to resign.

When he finished reading the message, there was a tremendous roar — dissent from the left and applause from the right.

A crowd of several hundred milled about the entrances to the assembly which was jammed to capacity.

Police and security guards had been strengthened all around the building, on the Concorde Bridge facing it and in surrounding streets.

MESSAGE TO SENATE

The message was read at the same time to the senate by its chairman Gason Monnerville.

Coty delivered a solemn appeal for national unity.

"In our long history," he declared, "after the most violent internecine discords there have been great days of French reconciliation in a surge of national unity. National unity is not anarchy. It is simply respect for the law."

At conclusion of the reading, an unidentified man in the public gallery threw a handful of pamphlets onto the floor of the House.

Le Troquer then suspended the session to enable party groups to discuss the president's message.

COOL-HEADEDNESS

Earlier, Coty had appealed to all who live under the protection of the Tricolor to await with cool-headedness and with respect for order the decision which will be taken very shortly.

It was the first time in the 13-year history of the Republic that the president had addressed a message to parliament.

Coty's appeal applied equally to the pro-de Gaulle Frenchmen in Algeria and Corsica and to the quarter million anti-de Gaulle Frenchmen who paraded through the traditionally revolutionary quarters of Paris Wednesday.

The Socialists had abandoned their own efforts to reach agreement among themselves on the de Gaulle issue to hear the Coty message.

SOCIALISTS CONSULT

Later, the Socialist parliamentary group asked Gen. Charles de Gaulle for details of his proposed program and about the men he might call on in a new government, sources said.

Premier Pflimlin told the caucus of his Popular Republican Party (MRP) that members must support de Gaulle under the present circumstances.

Pflimlin was reported by deputies who attended the session to have said:

"I am convinced that in the present circumstances — whose aspects I know very well — civil peace can only be preserved by the legal formation of a government headed by Gen. de Gaulle."

Camp Site Fee May Be Charged By Government

The possibility of setting a small fee for overnight camping in B.C. provincial camp sites will be studied this summer by the department of recreation and conservation.

Washington State Parks require payment of 75 cents a night from campers. Proceeds, plus proceeds from some park concessions, are used to improve park facilities.

As a result some camps offer hot showers and in some picnic areas, coin-operated electric ranges are available.

Recreation and Conservation Minister E. C. Westwood today said a survey of the Washington camps will be undertaken soon, and the small-fee arrangement will be studied.

Negotiations between the engineers, SIU, Canadian Merchant Service Guild (representing masters and mates) and Black Ball are still continuing although no real progress has been made so far, Mr. Greaves said.

All three unions have voted to strike against Black Ball but none have set dates for walkouts.

Meanwhile, hopes are growing that the first break in the stalemate may come this weekend when a special federal government conciliator arrives in Vancouver.

Eric G. Taylor, Toronto industrial relations counsellor, was expected to arrive Friday but all parties involved in the dispute said they had not been informed of any meeting with him yet.

Both Mr. Greaves and Norman Cunningham, SIU port agent in Vancouver, were in Victoria Wednesday night to give progress reports to their members here.

Capt. J. G. Leonard, a merchant service guild agent, also was to give a similar report to Victoria members of his association today.

None of the union officials would comment on their Victoria discussions.

R. A. H. Lort, chairman of Victoria Chamber of Commerce retail trade committee appealed to all citizens to send wires to the SIU headquarters in Vancouver. At least 40 telegrams protesting the strike have been sent by Victoria motel and restaurant operators.

Meanwhile, travel agents said exaggerated reports of "complete isolation" of Vancouver Island are more damaging to the tourist industry than the CPR-SIU strike itself.

C. E. Blaney, owner of Blaney's Travel Agency and city agent for Washington State Ferries, said the Island is "anything but isolated."

"Transportation companies still operating can handle much more business than is being offered," he said.

CAN HANDLE MORE

"On the Sidney-Anacortes run, Washington State operates two ferries daily, averaging only 50 per cent capacity. We can handle 80 to 85 cars per run, and haven't had a full load since the Victoria Day holiday weekend."

Mr. Blaney said his staff had contacted travel agencies in the U.S. by telephone, to explain that both Black Ball lines out of Nanaimo and Washington State from Sidney were still operating.

"But the word is widespread that Vancouver Island is cut off completely from the mainland. It is our reported isolation which is hitting the tourist trade, not any actual difficulty in getting on or off the island," he said.

George Paulin, president of Black Ball, said his line has been booked to capacity only (BB TO A) "MARJORIE MORNINGSTAR" (Royal): It has its moments, this Warners' adaptation of Herman Wouk's best-selling novel, "Marjorie Morningstar." But it also has its disappointments, the one almost cancelling out the other so that in the end it remains scarcely above average film fare.

Where Wouk's novel concentrated on characterization and detailed examples of Jewish life, that not only were intensely moving but made his novel the uncommonly good one it was, the picture glossed over the Jewish angle and painted the characters too often with the same brush so that sometimes the two-hour film held the flatness of a snapshot.

Everett Freeman's screenplay also took several liberties with Wouk's book. Instead of allowing the ending to wind up matter-of-factly, almost aimlessly, as the novel and life does, Freeman settled for the happy ending that amounts to a Hollywood cliché.

Ed Wynn as Uncle Sampson also acquitted himself well in his brief appearance as did Marty Milner as Wally the playwright. On the other hand Gene Kelly didn't appear convincing as Marjorie's lover, the unsuccessful "genius" Noel Alerman. For one thing he didn't dance like the second-rater he was supposed to be. He danced like Gene Kelly one of the best hoofers of his day.

And perhaps it was because the others were so good that he, in comparison, seemed to appear uneasy and unsure of himself to a degree that his protestations of love and his inner conflicts over the life he would lead, that of a Bohemian playwright, composer and dancer, a respectable gent in a grey flannel suit, puzzled him as he puzzled the audience.

PARIS CALM ON SURFACE*Gendarmes Clamp Cork On Political CocktailBy DON INGHAM Times Staff Reporter

Paris in the midst of a political crisis presents a mixed picture that defies interpretation by any but the most boulevard-wise Parisian.

As one of a party of 80 travel agents, television cameramen and newspapermen, whisked to Europe by Canadian Pacific Air Lines in the company's new Bristol Britannia turbo-jet aircraft, I landed in Paris in the face of the crisis of all crises.

Ingham It was just after 2 p.m. on May 19 when we reached Paris, and the Communists had threatened open revolt on the signal of the blowing of the factory whistles at 3 p.m.

But with rounding up baggage, seeing two charming travelling companions from Le Havre to a taxi and getting settled in our hotel, 3 p.m. went by for us without incident.

Hard Faced Men

It also went by without incident for the rest of Paris, mainly because thousands of gendarmes were placed at all busy corners in the city, and all were ready to jump.

These were not the debonair Frenchmen of legend, but lean, hard-faced men whose reputation was made at Merengue, Verdun, and in the merciless undercover back-alley fighting in Paris from 1940 to 1945.

They looked like men who had faced danger many times before, were accustomed to it, and were not afraid to deal with it when it arrived. It is their presence that has kept Paris from erupting for the past two weeks.

It was impossible, in only a day and a half, to tell how Parisians felt about the political crisis with its roots in Algeria. There were many people on the streets, but a casual visitor like myself could not tell if that was unusual.

Here a crowd collected, but it was only to wait for a light to cross the street. Here another collected, but it was for the latest edition of a newspaper. Do papers always sell that briskly? I couldn't tell, since my French was not equal to the question.

Police Run Show

I also was not equal to any discussion of politics, since the feeble attempt at the language that is sufficient to go buy a meal or a drink is simply not equal to the complexities and nuances of political thought.

(In the Times Wednesday I wrote, on information from people that should know much better, that Schiphol airport was 12 miles from Amsterdam. W. Tepper, 806 Craigflower Road, who lived in Rotterdam before settling here a year ago, informed me it is 12 kilometres from the heart of the city, or about 7½ miles.)

When a middle-aged woman, proprietor of a dress shop, asked me if Canada gave much thought to the situation, I ducked by saying Canada's sympathies were with France in her time of trial, and let it go at that.

One thing was certain—the police made no bones about who they thought were masters of the situation.

Blasting Horns

They moved about in small buses—15 or 20 in a squadron—with horns going full tilt.

The bus horn, more distinctive than a siren, is a two-note affair that says "hoo-BAA hoo-BAA hoo-BAA." Freely translated that means "Climb the curb, George, we're coming through!"

While sitting in a sidewalk cafe beside the Seine we saw one of these flying squadrons pour into a dead-end street at the side of the cafe, and immediately out ran a slight woman in black and white checked slim jims.

"Oho," I thought, "there's an insurgent trying to make a getaway."

But five minutes later she was back, staggering under a huge load of fresh newspapers. So there went a drama.

Diluted by Numbers

Again we heard the "hoo-BAA hoo-BAA," but this time it appeared to be nothing more than a few gendarmes

Farm Income Declines $75 Million

OTTAWA (CP)—Income from the sale of farm products in 1957 was estimated at $2,593,000,000, a decline of 2.7 per cent from the preceding year's estimated $2,668,000,000. The bureau of statistics reported today.

The decline of $75,000,000 can be attributed in the main to lower cash returns from the sale of cereal grains which were offset only in part by higher returns from the sale of live-stock and dairy products, the bureau said.

Provincial totals with 1956 figures in brackets: Prince Edward Island, $24,509,000 ($26,626,000); Nova Scotia, $41,955,000 ($44,423,000); New Brunswick, $44,813,000 ($49,288,000); Quebec, $387,915,000 ($389,499,000); Ontario $791,477,000 ($790,496,000); Manitoba, $214,350,000 ($213,775,000); Saskatchewan, $539,431,000 ($599,063,000); Alberta, $441,645,000 ($439,165,000); British Columbia, $117,753,000 ($116,189,000).

Eversfield Asked Why He Didn't Go to Police

(See also Page 16) had "a firm conviction" in 1953 about unlawful undertakings.

Asked why he did not take the matter up with Pacific president H. W. Gray, and leave the firm, Eversfield said it was his intention to move shortly to the United States, and he thought it better to let it go until he made that move.

Bull asked: "It suited your convenience, didn't it?"

'TOOTHPICK A DAY' PLEADS ISLAND MP

OTTAWA (CP)—A Progressive Conservative backbencher from British Columbia said today in the Commons he feels sure the government "is not sitting on its hands in connection with resuming trade with Communist China."

Harry McQuillan (PC—Comox-Alberni) said he wasn't advocating diplomatic recognition of Red China, but if we could get only one toothpick a day into the mouths of the 600,000,000 Chinese the forest industry in B.C. would be wealthy."

"The forest industry of B.C. does not ask the government to sell its products. But it does ask the government not to put obstacles in its way."

CHARGES SET RECORD

Death Sentence For Mass Killer

GLASGOW (AP)—Woodcutter Peter Manuel was convicted today of seven murders. The Glasgow High Court judge immediately sentenced him to be hanged.

The 32-year-old Manuel stood silent in the dock as the judge, Lord Cameron, pronounced sentence. Manuel then was swiftly hustled down the steps and out of the courtroom.

The jury had deliberated two hours and 21 minutes.

Manuel was convicted of six murders, the men, two girls, a man and a boy) which called for the death penalty. He also was found guilty of murder in the death of Isabelle Cooke, 17, but the jury ruled that it should not carry the death penalty.

He faced the greatest number of murder charges ever brought against a defendant in a modern British trial.

'Water' Proves Undoing Of Bootlegger Turned Thief

NEW YORK (AP)—One on the house wasn't enough for Wilfred Dart.

After rifling a dentist's office, Dart lingered for hours over a bottle of Scotch. Then his final undoing was, of all things, water.

Dart, 53, is a former Boston bootlegger who served 20 years in prison for killing a man during a hijacking gun duel.

Police said Dart, with the aid of an automobile spring, forced his way into the office of Dr. Lawrence Clayman on Park Avenue. All he could find was about $30 worth of stamps—and the Scotch.

It was in the wee small hours. There was no hurry. One nap led to another. Came the dawn and Dart started

De Gaulle or Disaster President Warns France

Algerian Army Set To Move

Rumor Coup d'état To Back de Gaulle

ALGIERS (AP)—A member of Algeria's ruling junta said today the army stands ready to move if necessary to help bring Gen. Charles de Gaulle back to power at Paris.

"The army cannot remain static at this time," said Leon Delbecque, vice-president of the All-Algerian Committee of Public Safety which has ruled Algeria since May 13. "It cannot keep on looking from the balcony and from the forum."

This was a reference to the square in front of the government building where Algerian crowds have been massing every night to hear insurgent leaders.

Reuters News Agency in a Paris dispatch reported rumors are circulating in the capital of a planned coup d'état due tonight if de Gaulle is not returned to power.

Delbecque said about 120 underground committees of public safety have been set up throughout metropolitan France to take power.

'WE'VE HAD ENOUGH'

"We have had enough of the Fourth Republic," Delbecque told a group of foreign reporters today, especially invited to listen to his remarks.

He said the Algerian movement "was not a plot but a national resurrection movement".

"We are saving not only the Republic but even democracy," he declared.

He said the Algerian committee is preparing a report on its activities for de Gaulle, but added that the junta has not been in direct contact with the general.

The defence lawyer then suggested that despite his conviction of unlawful acts Eversfield "actively assisted."

"I carried out instructions; I did not otherwise actively assist—I was duty bound to carry out instructions," Eversfield replied.

Questioned about the documents he took from the Pacific offices—documents which now form the basis of the Crown's 38-count indictment—Eversfield said he had them photostated and returned to Pacific offices, except for inconsequential papers which he kept in original form.

"Anything I considered scraps of paper which I felt I could take without stealing, I kept," the witness said.

Mr. Bull questioned him closely on his use of the word "stealing."

Eversfield said that to his mind if he took a $1,000 bill, that would be stealing. But "if I reached in the waste basket and took some inconsequential papers" that would not be stealing.

Mr. Bull asked him closely on his use of the word "stealing."

Eversfield said that to his mind if he took a $1,000 bill, that would be stealing. But "if I reached in the waste basket and took some inconsequential papers" that would not be stealing.

Mr. Bull suggested that Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy—to whom Eversfield later disclosed his documents—"knew they were of great value and told you so."

Eversfield: "He did not."

The defence lawyer then suggested that wealthy B.C. timberman and former MLA Gordon Gibson could afford to pay for them and "they would be of value to him."

The witness replied: "He did not pay for them."

Slowly, to leave through the window he had jimmied.

Outside, hosing down the sidewalk, was Thomas Lenahan.

Lenahan turned the hose on Dart, holding him at bay until police arrived. Dart was booked Wednesday on charges of burglary.

Police said Dart, with the aid of an automobile spring, forced his way into the office of Dr. Lawrence Clayman on Park Avenue. All he could find was about $30 worth of stamps—and the Scotch.

It was in the wee small hours. There was no hurry. One nap led to another. Came the dawn and Dart started

General Charles de Gaulle
... 'army may revolt.'

Coty Appeals To End Threat Of Civil War

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

PARIS (UPI)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle rode triumphantly into Paris tonight to form a "government of national safety" and save the nation from civil war. Revolutionaries were reported ready to topple the Fourth Republic if he fails.

President Rene Coty asked de Gaulle to form a government with a warning to the National Assembly that "we are now on the verge of civil war."

He pleaded with the lawmakers and the nation to rally behind this "most illustrious of Frenchmen" who had led France to liberty in the Second World War.

De Gaulle answered the summons with a 150-mile dash by car to the capital.

In accepting Coty's call, the general warned before he left his country home that the French army may revolt should he fail to win office by legal—though exceptional—means.

Coty told the warring political parties of the badly-split National Assembly that he would resign if they did not act swiftly.

COMMUNISTS OPPOSE

Parliament's first reaction was chaos. Members on the left shouted, "Fascists." Those on the right screamed, "assassins."

The Communist parliamentary group issued a statement scorning Coty's declaration shortly after the assembly adjourned to study the crisis.

The Communist group demands any attempt to bring General de Gaulle to power in any way whatever," the Communist statement said.

The Communist stand was symptomatic of the ailment that has brought France to its present stage—an inability of the various political groupings to unite for the common good.

It was estimated, however, that 3,500 of these men were back to work today on the shunned early shift of from 4:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Lifting of the ban automatically will reinstate all campfire and burning permits, and logging, sawmilling, and other industrial operations in wooded areas can be resumed on a normal work day.

The minister warned that the closure will be reimposed if the weather turns hot and dry again.

Weatherman William Mackie predicted more of the present cool and moist weather for Victoria with a mixture of clear and cloudy skies tonight and Friday, and the likelihood of scattered showers.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

O Lord, Who didst in Thy wisdom provide for homes, help Thy children to transform houses into homes. Lead us to see that love and understanding are more important than brick and mortar. Protect our homes from enemies without and within that we may grow together in seeking to please Thee with joy; through Jesus Christ, our Lord, Amen.

LETTERS EXCHANGED

De Gaulle accepted the call, but said in an exchange of letters with former President Vincent Auriol released before he left for Paris that things have deteriorated so far that he must

Tourists Scared

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany today scrapped the food rationing cards introduced by Adolf Hitler in 1939 and boosted the wages of more than 3,000,000 workers to help them pay higher food prices.

11-Year Old Mother

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — An 11-year-old girl gave birth to a seven-pound, two-ounce boy here Monday, a physician disclosed Wednesday. He said mother and baby were doing fine. Hospital attendants said the mother, in the third grade, reads comic books and acts very immaturity.

LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia—Northern Rhodesian Africans are rejecting tribal tom toms in favor of rock 'n' roll. Radio listener surveys shows that as the popularity of broadcasts of tribal music decreases the demand for rock 'n' roll increases.

HOLLYWOOD—

Here is an all-grandmother orchestra that prefers rock 'n' roll to a rocking chair. The ladies, many in their 70s, play everything from low-down blues to raucous stuff that would curl the sideburns of an Elvis Presley fan.

All former professional musicians, they practise once a week and hope to get television bookings.

When Mrs. Jean Lutty, a youngster of 44, takes off on the drum solo, Mrs. Alice Mortimer, 72, frequently leaps from her chair and yells: "Go, go, go."

BRUSSELS—Benny Goodman, America's "King of Swing," displayed less-known talents as a classical clarinetist at a broadcast concert here Wednesday night.

Goodman played Mozart concertos with a Belgian chamber orchestra during the first half of the concert, then assembled his own quintet to wind up the evening with a lighter program called "Jazz at the Fair."

The American musician has been a four-star attraction at the Brussels World's Fair. A capacity crowd is expected Saturday when he winds up a week of appearances with an open-air concert in historic Grand Square.

Judge Rebukes Defence Lawyer For Jabs at Bribe Case Witness

VANCOUVER (CP)—A defence lawyer's suggestion that the Crown's key witness in the Sommers bribery-conspiracy case might change his story before the defence is through with him brought a sharp rebuke Wednesday from Assize Court Justice J. O. Wilson.

It was the sternest clash between the bench and counsel in the now 15-day-old trial of former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers, three other individuals and four companies. The Crown charges bribery and conspiracy in connection with issuing of government timber licences.

CLOSE QUESTIONING

Rebuked was veteran counsel Alfred Bull. He was closely questioning star Crown witness Charles Eversfield about the witness' reference to the "Schultz-Sommers-Pacific" fund. The Crown claims it was through this fund that certain monies were split between Sommers, C. D. Schultz and H. W. Gray.

Eversfield admitted under cross-examination it was his own designation.

"You put that tag on it, didn't you?" Bull asked the witness sharply.

"I referred to it that way, yes, in reference to my testimony."

"And with very sinister results," counsel suggested.

"If my choice was an unhappy one I'm sorry, but it's true," replied the former accountant with Pacific Coast Services Limited.

"Maybe you will change your grounds before the defence is over," Mr. Bull remarked.

JUDGE ANNOYED

Mr. Justice Wilson, obviously annoyed, whipped off his glasses and said in a sharp tone: "Mr. Bull, I will not have that sort of remark made here."

When Mr. Bull began to say something else, the judge snapped: "I have given you instructions, Mr. Bull. Please obey them."

There were other legal clashes during the day as the Crown finished its examination of Eversfield and defence cross-examination began. It is on documents Eversfield took from Pacific Coast Services files when-he left his bookkeeper's position there in 1955 that the Crown mainly bases its 38-count indictment.

GROUP CHARGED

Charged are Sommers, H. W. Gray, John Gray, Charles D. Schultz, the C. D. Schultz Company Limited, Pacific Coast Services, Evergreen Lumber Sales and B.C. Forest Products. Earlier, Eversfield, under Crown examination, identified a prosecution document as calculations he had made for H. W. Gray about money coming in and out of the alleged split fund. The document showed $193,000 flowed through the fund.

It indicated that at the time the document was prepared—it was not dated—$31,495.34 had gone to H. W. Gray, $18,897.21 to Sommers and $17,696.28 to Schultz.

FOR INCOME TAX

He said Gray told him at the time not to forget to deduct 25 per cent from payments earmarked for Sommers on which Pacific expected to pay income tax.

Mr. Bull, who is defending Schultz and his firm, opened defence cross-examination by establishing Eversfield was a school teacher and a shipyard worker before becoming bookkeeper for the Pacific firm in 1951.

The counsel suggested that as a position of trust and loyalty to his employer.

"He had my trust and loyalty," Eversfield replied. "We'll see about that," Mr. Bull shot back.

TOOK DOCUMENTS

Counsel then questioned Eversfield about what he had read in the papers.

MUCH INVOLVED

Mr. Bull attempted to read the statutory declaration and Crown prosecutor Victor Dryer objected. Mr. Justice Wilson asked why it should be read since "the witness was not involved in the lawsuit."

"I don't agree with that," Mr. Bull replied. "My case will show that he (Eversfield) was very much involved and may still be. Though the case is over now, perhaps the payoff has not come yet, you see."

Mr. Bull suggested Eversfield knew about charges made before the commission on forest management conducted by former chief justice Gordon Sloan late in 1955 by Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy. It had resulted in a slander suit being brought by Mr. Sommers against Sturdy, a suit subsequently dismissed.

Eversfield said he knew only what he had read in the papers.

GIBSON OFFICE

He then suggested that in 1955 Eversfield went to the office of former Liberal MLA Gordon Gibson—a wealthy B.C. timberman—with others, and the Eversfield documents and the statutory declaration made before the Sloan commission were discussed.

Again the Crown objected.

Mr. Bull shot back that it would be known to the court "before this case is over what was said there (before the Sloan commission) if I have to call for former chief justice Sloan himself."

Mr. Justice Wilson finally permitted Mr. Bull to question the witness about what he actually knew about the happenings.

Mr. Bull suggested to Eversfield that he knew Sturdy had gone before the Royal Commission and made a statement about evidence of passage of money for forest management licences and there was "a certain body of information" to show that the minister had received private payment.

IT MAY BE

Eversfield said he recalled that Sturdy had gone to the commission and had said he had been "taken by stealth" or even taken secretly, though he admitted his employer didn't know about his action.

Eversfield said there had come a point in his employment at Pacific that he "knew" of what he considered unlawful undertakings. He had made the decision to take the Pacific documents over the 1954 Christmas holiday and actually took most of them the following January. He left the firm March 31, 1955.

Eversfield said he was convinced at the time he took the "activities" were "not unknown to others."

HERE'S HIGH SPOT OF CENTENNIAL SHOW

The eight most rugged mountaineers will be picked from a dozen now under training for an assault on B.C.'s Everest.

They will live for a month on ice-sheathed Mount Fairweather, highest peak in B.C., which towers 15,300 feet right on the Canada-Alaska border.

1,000 miles north of Vancouver.

Members of the B.C. Mountaineering section of the Alpine Club of Canada, the party will set out on its centennial committee sponsored hike June 14.

Fairweather has never been scaled by Canadians. It has only been conquered once, in 1931, despite attempts by several famous mountaineers.

The centennial team, led by Paddy Sherman, is using some equipment that helped Hillary and Tenzing beat Everest. And like Everest, Fairweather guards its summit jealously, with a giant ice-fall.

Sherman hopes for victory in late June — but even then temperatures will be well below zero.

The eight-man team will be selected after a full-scale trial on Mt. Baker in two weeks.

Liquor Cache Suspect Sick, Given Remand

Service station operator John Thomas Pepler, 37, of 421 Kingston, was unable to appear in city police court today on a charge of retaining $1,750 worth of stolen liquor.

Counsel Kenneth Murphy told court Pepler is in Jubilee Hospital observation ward and too "mentally confused" to instruct his lawyer.

He was charged following a police raid on Jack's Service Station at 2821 Douglas last Saturday, in which the liquor, stolen Friday night at Sidney liquor store, was recovered.

Two other men pleaded guilty to its theft and were sentenced at Sidney to two years less a day in jail.

Magistrate H. C. Hall remanded Pepler to next Wednesday for election and plea.

City Cadets Come Second In Big Shoot

No. 89 (Kinsmen) Squadron, Royal Canadian Air Cadets of Victoria, has won the Air Cadet League of Canada Trophy for placing second in the Dominion challenge trophy shoot, league Pacific Coast, who will give the speech day address.

Sports prizes will be presented by Mrs. R. A. Brown of Calgary, who will also take part in the opening ceremonies of the new Brown Hall which she presented to the school.

The new building is the first major structure to be given to the school since its founding.

Speeches, presentation of scholastic prizes and the opening of Brown Hall will begin at 10:45 a.m. and sports at 2:15 p.m. Saturday.

Principal guest at the ceremonies will be Rear-Admiral H. S. Rayner, Flag Officer of the Pacific Coast, who will give the speech day address.

The challenge trophy is awarded annually to the best air cadet rifle team in Canada.

The Victoria team of eight averaged 95.916 per cent, less than one point behind the St. James, Man., team which captured the Dominion trophy.

Coch of the Victoria boys is Cpl. John Bishop, RCMP, who has been handling the job the past two years.

Recently, the squadron won first place among air cadets in B.C., competing against 12 other squadrons.

Team captain is Cadet WO. T. M. Rocke, 16.

The competition, conducted by the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association, takes the form of a "postal" match with shoots held January through March.

Italian Sun Hats Are Here—Mad, Gay and Adorable!

By PENNY SAVER

Recently a number of my friends have been taking their sun bathing on the local beaches under snappy, wide-brimmed straw hats that look slightly mad but wonderful. So I twisted their arms (figuratively speaking) and made them tell me where they found them.

Now I've taken a good look at the collection I'm even more excited about these sun hats. Some are in garish pinks, others are chartreuse, many are in muted tones and they are decorated with tiers of straws, bits of simulated grass or perky bows.

Made in Italy, they start in price at 50 cents. Take it from me: If you want a circle of envious eyes around you . . . buy and wear one!

WHY GROW OLD?
By JOSEPHINE LOWMANHairlines and Hair Are Part of Beauty Scheme

Most men are acutely conscious of their hairline. It seems to me that women are apt to forget about theirs. Yet the hairline has much to do with beauty in our sex.

If you have a Widow's Peak, play it up by sweeping your hair off your forehead. You even can emphasize it by darkening the point of the peak with an eyebrow pencil. If you have a homely hairline at the forehead, you can hide this with bangs. Regular bangs which come down on the forehead are not becoming to all women but those which fluff up at the hairline may be extremely flattering, especially if the forehead hairline is unattractive. If the hairline at the sides of your face is attractive, then sweep the hair up from the sides of the face, that is, unless this is wrong for your facial contour.

Many women who have a heavy head of hair still experience some thinning at the hairline as they grow older. One of the world's greatest hair experts once told me that the thinning hairline can be remedied or at least controlled. Her feeling was that it could be avoided if certain routines were employed before it ever occurred.

For instance, a tight scalp or one which is too dry or too oily are the forerunners of the thinning hairline. There are splendid tonics for these conditions and they should be used regularly. Also a tight scalp should have a rousing massage every single day or night. This expert compared the tight scalp to soil which is too tight about a plant so that it cannot be properly nourished.

It is certainly good therapy to stimulate the circulation in your scalp until the latter is pink. Press your thumb in at the base of the skull and work upward.

Remember, too, that worry and emotional strains affect our topknots in more ways than one.

Another warning: Do not expose your hair to very hot bright sunlight for long periods at a time without providing some protection.

Halt Called On Vandalism At Island Park

The B.C. Department of Recreation and Conservation has asked the RCMP to halt senseless vandalism which has almost ruined the historical value of Petroglyph Park, south of Nanaimo.

Minister of the department, E. C. Westwood, said today he has written as well to Nanaimo council and chamber of commerce asking assistance in preservation of the park.

The roadside park was built around a collection of hillside rock carvings first discovered by Indians over 100 years ago.

Mystery of the carvings has never been solved. It is believed they are the work of a civilization which preceded the Indians.

In recent years they have been defaced by vagrants who have carved amateurish drawings on the same rocks. Hillside trails have been turned into slides. New picnic tables have been defaced and park laboratories have been also misused.

Mr. Westwood said he has been assured by the RCMP that regular patrols will be made of the park in future and everything possible will be done to protect the rare carvings and park accommodations.

Fatal Heart Attack Follows Wasp Sting

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — William Eli Key, 35, city water department employee, died Wednesday shortly after being stung on the lip by a wasp. The family doctor said the 300-pound man apparently died from a heart attack brought on by the sting.

Hand Over Powers

Coty said that if his solution proved the wrong one he could only hand over his powers under the constitution which in the last 13 years has enabled the assembly to overthrow 25 French governments.

Coty's stunning announcement is an unprecedented message to emergency meetings of both houses of the French parliament came against a background of open revolt in Algeria and Corsica and an assembly so hopelessly divided against itself that de Gaulle seemed the only solution short of a military dictatorship or a Communist-controlled "popular front."

PROFOUND REFORM

The de Gaulle government, Coty said, would see what could be done "in a short or long time, to carry out a profound reform of our institutions."

Coty's message was read to the National Assembly by Andre le Troquer, its president and the man who would succeed Coty if he carries out his threat to resign.

When he finished reading the message, there was a tremendous roar — dissent from the left and applause from the right.

A crowd of several hundred milled about the entrances to the assembly which was jammed to capacity.

Police and security guards had been strengthened all around the building, on the Concorde Bridge facing it and in surrounding streets.

MESSAGE TO SENATE

The message was read at the same time to the senate by its chairman Gason Monnerville.

Coty delivered a solemn appeal for national unity.

"In our long history," he declared, "after the most violent internecine discords there have been great days of French reconciliation in a surge of national unity. National unity is not anarchy. It is simply respect for the law."

At conclusion of the reading, an unidentified man in the public gallery threw handful of pamphlets onto the floor of the House.

Le Troquer then suspended the session to enable party groups to discuss the president's message.

COOL-HEADEDNESS

Earlier, Coty had appealed to all "who live under the protection of the Tricolor to await with cool-headedness and with respect for order the decision which will be taken very shortly."

It was the first time in the 13-year history of the Republic that the president had addressed a message to parliament.

Coty's appeal applied equally to the pro-de Gaulle Frenchmen in Algeria and Corsica and to the quarter million anti-de Gaulle Frenchmen who paraded through the cool-headed revolutionary quarters of Paris Wednesday.

The Socialists had abandoned their own efforts to reach agreement among themselves on the de Gaulle issue to hear the Coty message.

SOCIALISTS CONSULT

Later, the Socialist parliamentary group asked Gen. Charles de Gaulle for details of his proposed program and about the men he might call on in a new government, sources said.

Pflimlin told the caucus of his Popular Republican Party (MRP) that members must support de Gaulle under the present circumstances.

Pflimlin was reported by deputies who attended the session to have said:

"I am convinced that in the present circumstances — whose aspects I know very well — civil peace can only be preserved by the legal formation of a government headed by Gen. de Gaulle."

restore the unity that has been compromised and that now depends on you," he added, literally pleading with de Gaulle to take over.

The appeals from Coty and Auriol, and de Gaulle's response, were broadcast on a bulletin basis throughout France.

ASSEMBLY ADJOURNED

The news spread across Paris. The Assembly reconvened briefly to handle routine legislation, then adjourned to stand by for an emergency session.

Crowds gathered outside the Elysee Palace, and the air of tension mounted.

The 76-year-old Coty told the assembly he was asking de Gaulle to see what can be done toward a thorough reform of the constitution which in the last 13 years has enabled the assembly to overthrow 25 French governments.

Coty's stunning announcement is an unprecedented message to emergency meetings of both houses of the French parliament came against a background of open revolt in Algeria and Corsica and an assembly so hopelessly divided against itself that de Gaulle seemed the only solution short of a military dictatorship or a Communist-controlled "popular front."

All three unions have voted to strike against Black Ball but none have set dates for walkouts.

Meanwhile, hopes are growing that the first break in the stalemate may come this weekend when a special federal government conciliator arrives in Vancouver.

Gunfire after midnight shattered the most peaceful 24 hours since the start of the anti-government uprising three weeks ago.

Fighting in a quarter of the capital occupied by opposing forces lasted for three hours, broke off suddenly for two hours and started up again when the nightly dusk-to-dawn curfew was lifted.

Both Mr. Greaves and Norman Cunningham, SIU port agent in Vancouver, were in Victoria Wednesday night to give progress reports to their members here.

Capt. J. G. Leonard, a merchant service guild agent, also was to give a similar report to Victoria members of his association today.

None of the union officials would comment on their Victoria discussions.

R. A. H. Lort, chairman of Victoria Chamber of Commerce retail trade committee appealed to all citizens to send wires to the SIU headquarters in Vancouver. At least 40 telegrams protesting the strike have been sent by Victoria motel and restaurant operators.

Meanwhile, travel agents said exaggerated reports of "complete isolation" of Vancouver Island are more damaging to the tourist industry than the CPR-SIU strike itself.

C. E. Blaney, owner of Blaney's Travel Agency and city agent for Washington State Ferries, said the Island is "anything but isolated."

Transportation companies still operating can handle much more business than is being offered," he said.

CAN HANDLE MORE

"On the Sidney-Anacortes run, Washington State operates two ferries daily, averaging only 50 per cent capacity. We can handle 80 to 85 cars per run, and haven't had a full load since the Victoria Day holiday weekend."

Mr. Blaney said his staff had contacted travel agencies in the U.S. by telephone, to explain that both Black Ball lines out of Nanaimo and Washington State from Sidney were still operating.

"But the word is widespread that Vancouver Island is cut off completely from the mainland. It is our reported isolation which is hitting the tourist trade, not any actual difficulty in getting on or off the island," he said.

George Paulin, president of Black Ball, said his line has been booked to capacity only

Alaska Pine Closes Woodfibre Plant

VANCOUVER CP.—Alaska Pine and Cellulose Limited today announced its big mill at Woodfibre, B.C., will close down June 21 for an indefinite period because of lack of markets.

The closure will affect 240 employees. The company said that where possible they will be given employment in other plants.

Morocco Restricts Troop Movements

LONDON (AP)—The Moroccan Embassy said today Morocco is restricting the movement of French troops in a province bordering Algeria.

Both Morocco and Tunisia fear the insurgent military officers in Algeria may send troops into those two former French protectorates.

CCF Moves Non-Confidence Motion

OTTAWA (CP)—A non-confidence motion by the CCF party on municipal financial aid was moved in the Commons today by H. W. Herdige, Kootenay East.

The motion, in the final day of the throne speech debate, called for federal government measures to ease the "very heavy financial burden now carried by the municipalities of this country." It will be voted on tonight.

Unionist Sees Arbitration Hope In Ferry Strike

A union official today raised the possibility that arbitration of the 13-day-old strike against the CPR ferry service might be acceptable under certain conditions.

Richard Greaves, secretary of the National Association of Marine Engineers, made the personal observation in response to a second appeal by Mayor Percy Scurrall to unions involved to agree to arbitration of their disputes.

"If the CPR was prepared to accept the majority report of the conciliation board as a basis, we might agree to arbitration of the difference between the majority and minority reports," he said.

"That's just my personal opinion," he added.

(A federal conciliation board recommended wage increases of 19 per cent for some 97 CPR engineers, but the majority report included an additional $26 monthly cost of living bonus. Present pay scale is $370 to $485. The CPR has offered 8 per cent.)

CHEMAINUS — The Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway Ltd. Dayliner and a Chemainus truck were damaged at 11:30 a.m. today when they collided at a level rail-highway crossing one mile south of here.

George Appleby, driver of the Clarke & Son Ltd. truck, was thrown free of the vehicle and suffered minor shock. The cab of the truck was demolished.

The Dayliner, a self-contained passenger rail car, was able to limp into Chemainus station, but was forced to stay for repairs to the cooling system.

Passengers were sent on to Nanaimo by bus.

Ban Lifted, Loggers Work Again

The partial industrial forest closure imposed on the Vancouver Forest District at midnight Monday will be lifted at midnight tonight, Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston announced today.

This will mean resumption of regular working hours for 4,000 loggers employed by big firms in the Vancouver Island and mainland district that shut down their operations rather than work during the limited hours allowed under the closure.

It was estimated, however, that 3,500 of these men were back to work today on the shunned early shift of from 4:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Lifting of the ban automatically will reinstate all campfire and burning permits, and logging, sawmilling, and other industrial operations in wooded areas can be resumed on a normal work day.

The minister warned that the closure will be reimposed if the weather turns hot and dry again.

Weatherman William Mackie predicted more of the present cool and moist weather for Victoria, with a mixture of clear and cloudy skies tonight and Friday, and the likelihood of scattered showers.

Mass Killer Sentenced To Hang

GLASGOW (AP)—Woodcutter Peter Manuel was convicted today of seven murders. The Glasgow High Court judge immediately sentenced him to be hanged.

The 32-year-old Manuel stood silent in the dock as the judge, Lord Cameron, pronounced his sentence. Manuel then was swiftly hustled down the steps and out of the courtroom.

The jury had deliberated two hours and 21 minutes.

Manuel was convicted of six "capital" murders (three women, two girls, a man and a boy) which called for the death penalty.

He also was found guilty of murder in the death of Isabelle Cooke, 17, but the jury ruled that it should not carry the death penalty.

He faced the greatest number of murder charges ever brought against a defendant in a modern British trial.

In his summing up of evidence for the jury, Lord Cameron praised Manuel for his "remarkable" talent as his own counsel.

Manuel handled his own defense for most of the trial after firing his two lawyers.

New Fighting In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (Reuters)—The biggest battle in Beirut since the start of the Lebanese insurrection broke out here early today.

Gunfire after midnight shattered the most peaceful 24 hours since the start of the anti-government uprising three weeks ago.

Vancouver Stocks Closing Prices

VANCOUVER—Closing prices: Kelly Douglas "A" 100 at $5, Delrio 1200 at $8.60, Royal Canadian Ventures 2,000 at 43, Inland Gas Pld. 30 at $15.25, Futurity 500 at 50, Vantor 100 at $1.16.

Tautly-tuned racing vessels arrived at Inner Harbor today as record entry prepared for 1958 Swiftsure Lightship ocean yacht classic Friday. At least 40 yachts will be on view for "Swiftsure Eve" celebrations starting at 7 tonight, featuring sunset ceremony by RCN at 8:30. (Times photo.)

Eversfield Asked Why He Didn't Go to Police

(See also Page 16)

VANCOUVER (CP)—The key Crown witness in the Sommers bribery conspiracy trial said today he can not now assess his action in not going to the police when, in 1953, he was convinced of unlawful undertakings at his former firm, Pacific Coast Services Limited.

Under cross-examination by defence counsel Alfred Bull, Charles Eversfield admitted he had "a firm conviction" in 1953 about unlawful undertakings.

Asked why he did not take the matter up with Pacific president H. W. Gray, and leave the firm, Eversfield said it was his intention to move shortly to the United States, and he thought it better to let it go until he made that move.

Bull asked: "It suited your convenience, didn't it?"

Eversfield: "I carried out instructions; I did not otherwise actively assist. I was duty bound to carry out instructions." Eversfield replied.

Questioned about the documents he took from the Pacific offices—documents which now form the basis of the Crown's 38-count indictment—Eversfield said he had them photostated and returned to Pacific offices, except for inconsequential papers which he kept in original form.

"Anything I considered scraps of paper which I felt I could take without stealing, I kept," the witness said.

Bull questioned him closely on his use of the word "stealing."

Eversfield said that to his mind if he took a $1,000 bill, that would be stealing. But "if I reached in the waste basket too many changes," Eversfield replied.

Bull: "You could have gone to the police, couldn't you?"

Eversfield: "That alternative was open to me... In any case I didn't... I can't at this time assess that."

The defence lawyer then suggested that despite his conviction of unlawful acts Eversfield "actively assisted."

"I carried out instructions; I did not otherwise actively assist. I was duty bound to carry out instructions." Eversfield replied.

The defence lawyer then suggested that wealthy B.C. timberman and former MLA Gordon Wilson could assist him for them and "they would be of value to him."

The witness replied: "He did not pay for them."

Eversfield: "He did not."

Coty Appeals To End Threat Of Civil War

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

PARIS (UPI)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle rode triumphantly into Paris tonight to form a "government of national safety" and save the nation from civil war. Revolutionaries were reported ready to topple the Fourth Republic if he fails.

President Rene Coty asked de Gaulle to form a government with a warning to the National Assembly that "we are now on the verge of civil war."

He pleaded with the lawmakers and the nation to rally behind this "most illustrious of Frenchmen" who had led France to liberty in the Second World War.

De Gaulle answered the summons with a 150-mile dash by car to the capital.

In accepting Coty's call, the general warned before he left his country home that the French army may revolt should he fail to win office by legal—though exceptional—means.

Coty told the warring political parties of the badly-split National Assembly that he would resign if they did not act swiftly.

COMMUNISTS OPPOSE

Parliament's first reaction was chaos. Members on the left shouted, "Fascists." Those on the right screamed, "assassins."

The Communist parliamentary group issued a statement scorning Coty's declaration shortly after the assembly adjourned to study the crisis.

"The Communist group demands any attempt to bring General de Gaulle to power in any way whatever," the Communist statement said.

The Communist stand was symptomatic of the ailment that has brought France to its present stage—an inability of the various political groupings to unite for the common good.

In Algiers, the leaders of the insurgent military-civilian junta looked for a fast response from Paris tonight to the ultimatum they served this morning. The ultimatum was plain: put de Gaulle in without delay.

Observers interpreted the ultimatum as a clear warning that the 400,000-man army in Algiers was ready to invade mainland France if the situation was not cleared up fast.

This critical condition was made plain in the parallel crisis calls of Coty and de Gaulle.

Coty said in statements read to both houses of parliament that he had turned to de Gaulle for help "in the dark hour of peril for our country and our republic."

De Gaulle accepted the call, but said in an exchange of letters with the former President Vincent Auriol released before he left for Paris that things have deteriorated so far that he must

Algerian Army Set To Move

ALGIERS (AP)—A member of Algeria's ruling junta said today the army stands ready to move if necessary to help bring Gen. Charles de Gaulle back to power.

"The army cannot remain static at this time," said Leon Delbecque, vice-president of the All-Algerian Committee of Public Safety which has ruled Algeria since May 13. "It cannot keep on looking from the balcony and from the forum."

This was a reference to the square in front of the government building where Algerian crowds have been massing every night to hear insurgent leaders.

Reuters News Agency in a Paris dispatch reported rumors are circulating in the capital of a planned coup d'état due tonight if de Gaulle is not returned to power.

Delbecque said about 120 underground committees of public safety have been set up throughout metropolitan France to take power.

"WE HAVE HAD ENOUGH"

"We have had enough of the Fourth Republic," Delbecque told a group of foreign reporters today, especially invited to listen to his remarks.

He said the Algerian movement "was not a plot but a national resurrection movement".

"We are saving not only the Republic but even democracy," he declared.

He said the Algerian committee is preparing a report on its activities for de Gaulle, but added that the junta has not been in direct contact with the general.

CENTENNIAL RACE JUNE 7

Contestants in Bike Events Get Top First-Aid Attention

Although no one expects any serious mishaps in the Times' Centennial Bicycle Race on June 7, possibilities are not being overlooked in plans for medical and first-aid protection of contestants.

Teams of a doctor and first-aid attendants from the St. John's Ambulance Brigade will travel with the field of more than 40 riders in the 100-mile run while Dr. P. F. D'Estrée and Frank Britton of the brigade will watch the tyro pedallers on their 38.4-mile jaunt.

Medical officials have made an appeal for residents along the route to make a special effort to keep children and dogs off the course while racing is in progress.

To assist contestants in either event, will be an ambulance supplied and manned by the Langford Ambulance.

And for riders who may be exhausted after their long ride, Dr. J. L. Heffernan and Bob Barnes of the St. John's Ambulance Brigade will be available to provide first-aid treatment.

Stationed at Malahat Chalet, ready to answer calls in progress.

Ladyfriend sez, at 40 cents a bottle, she won't get much in cider.

Seems de Gaulle is tryin' to persuade the French to persuade him to take over . . .

WATER SCARCE TOO

Park Sites
Nearly All
Swallowed Up

Land and water acquisition for British Columbia parks, camp sites and marinas is already becoming a problem. Minister of Recreation and Conservation E. C. Westwood said Wednesday.

He told an audience of U.S. visitors here with a recreation sub-committee of the Columbia Basin Inter-Agency Committee:

"This is particularly apparent in the more settled areas, such as the east coast of Vancouver Island and the lower mainland coast, from Vancouver to Powell River."

Suitable Crown lands also are scarce in the Gulf Islands and in the Okanagan Lake region. Maintaining public access to hunting and fishing lands is another problem in view of "rapid population and industrial growth," he said.

Mr. Westwood said the growth of pleasure boating in B.C. is a recreational "phenomenon."

The time is not far off when bays will be boiling with boats as the highways are crowded with cars."

Stemming from this study, my department has embarked on a program of land and water acquisition . . . whereby as a first step, a network of boat anchorages will be established throughout the Strait of Georgia."

Chairman of the visiting U.S. group was noted Pacific Northwest conservationist, Marshall N. Dana.

Phone Dividend Out of Surplus

VANCOUVER, B.C. — An averaging nine per cent. American economist said Wednesday the B.C. Telephone Company will probably have to dip into its surplus this year to pay its usual $2 dividend on common stock.

Dr. J. R. Foster of Washington, whose firm was retained by B.C. Telephone to study what would constitute reasonable earnings and surplus provisions in its operations, said the dividend action would have occurred even if the rate increase the company is seeking had been in effect throughout the year.

He was testifying at a Board of Transport Commissioners hearing into the company's application for rate increases av-

Dr. Foster was to continue his testimony today.

Earlier company president Cyrus H. McLean replied to statements made Tuesday before the commissioners that the company's services are antiquated and over-priced.

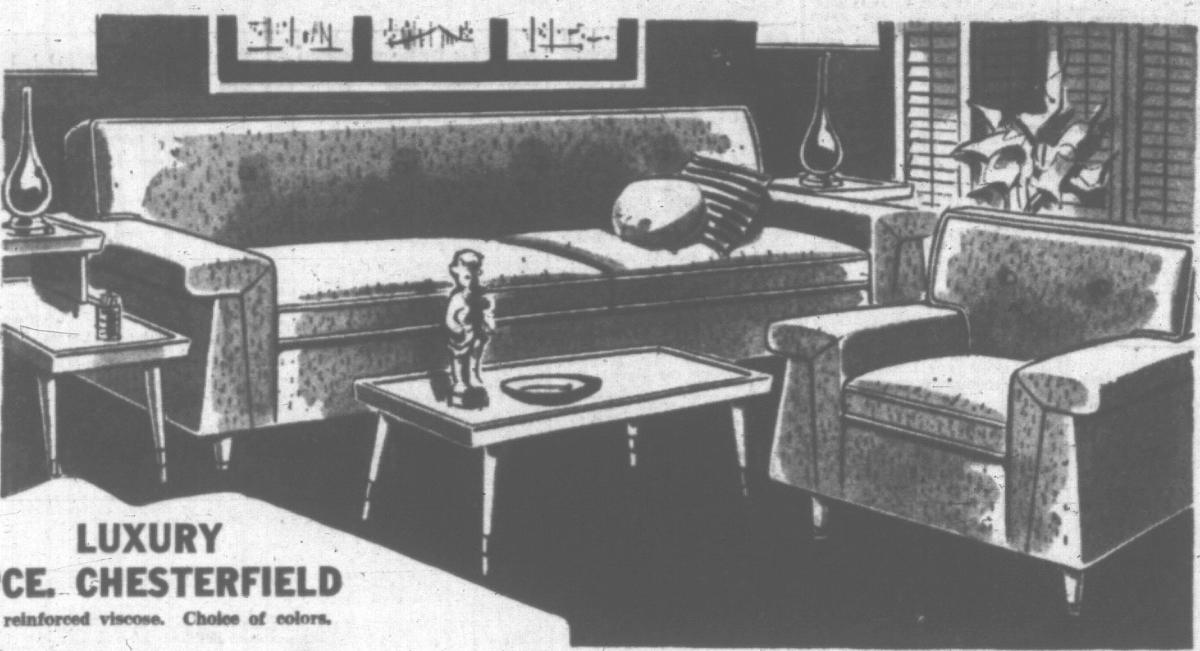

He said the Civic Reform Association's comparison of Vancouver exchange rates with three prairie cities is not valid because Vancouver has more phones than the others and "it is an accepted principle of the telephone industry that the larger the number of telephones served by a given exchange, the higher the rates."

He said company equipment is the "most modern."
